Hello Pam,
I just doesn't seem possible that we are seniors (almost) - I it makes me so happy. We sure have had a lot of fun together. - this year and the other years past - struggling - me any way - (to get Mike) - Nobody else - Pam I think you are real sweet, cute, and every-thing else. - I Hope we can get together this summer and do some things - If you aren't to tied up with Jim which you'll probally be. - Remember your suggestion maybe all of us could get together and do that - well something. I sure, sure, sure. Hope we have some classes together next year. - we'd better - like this ab class - snick - food - But next year we won't be able to - darn - No Food.
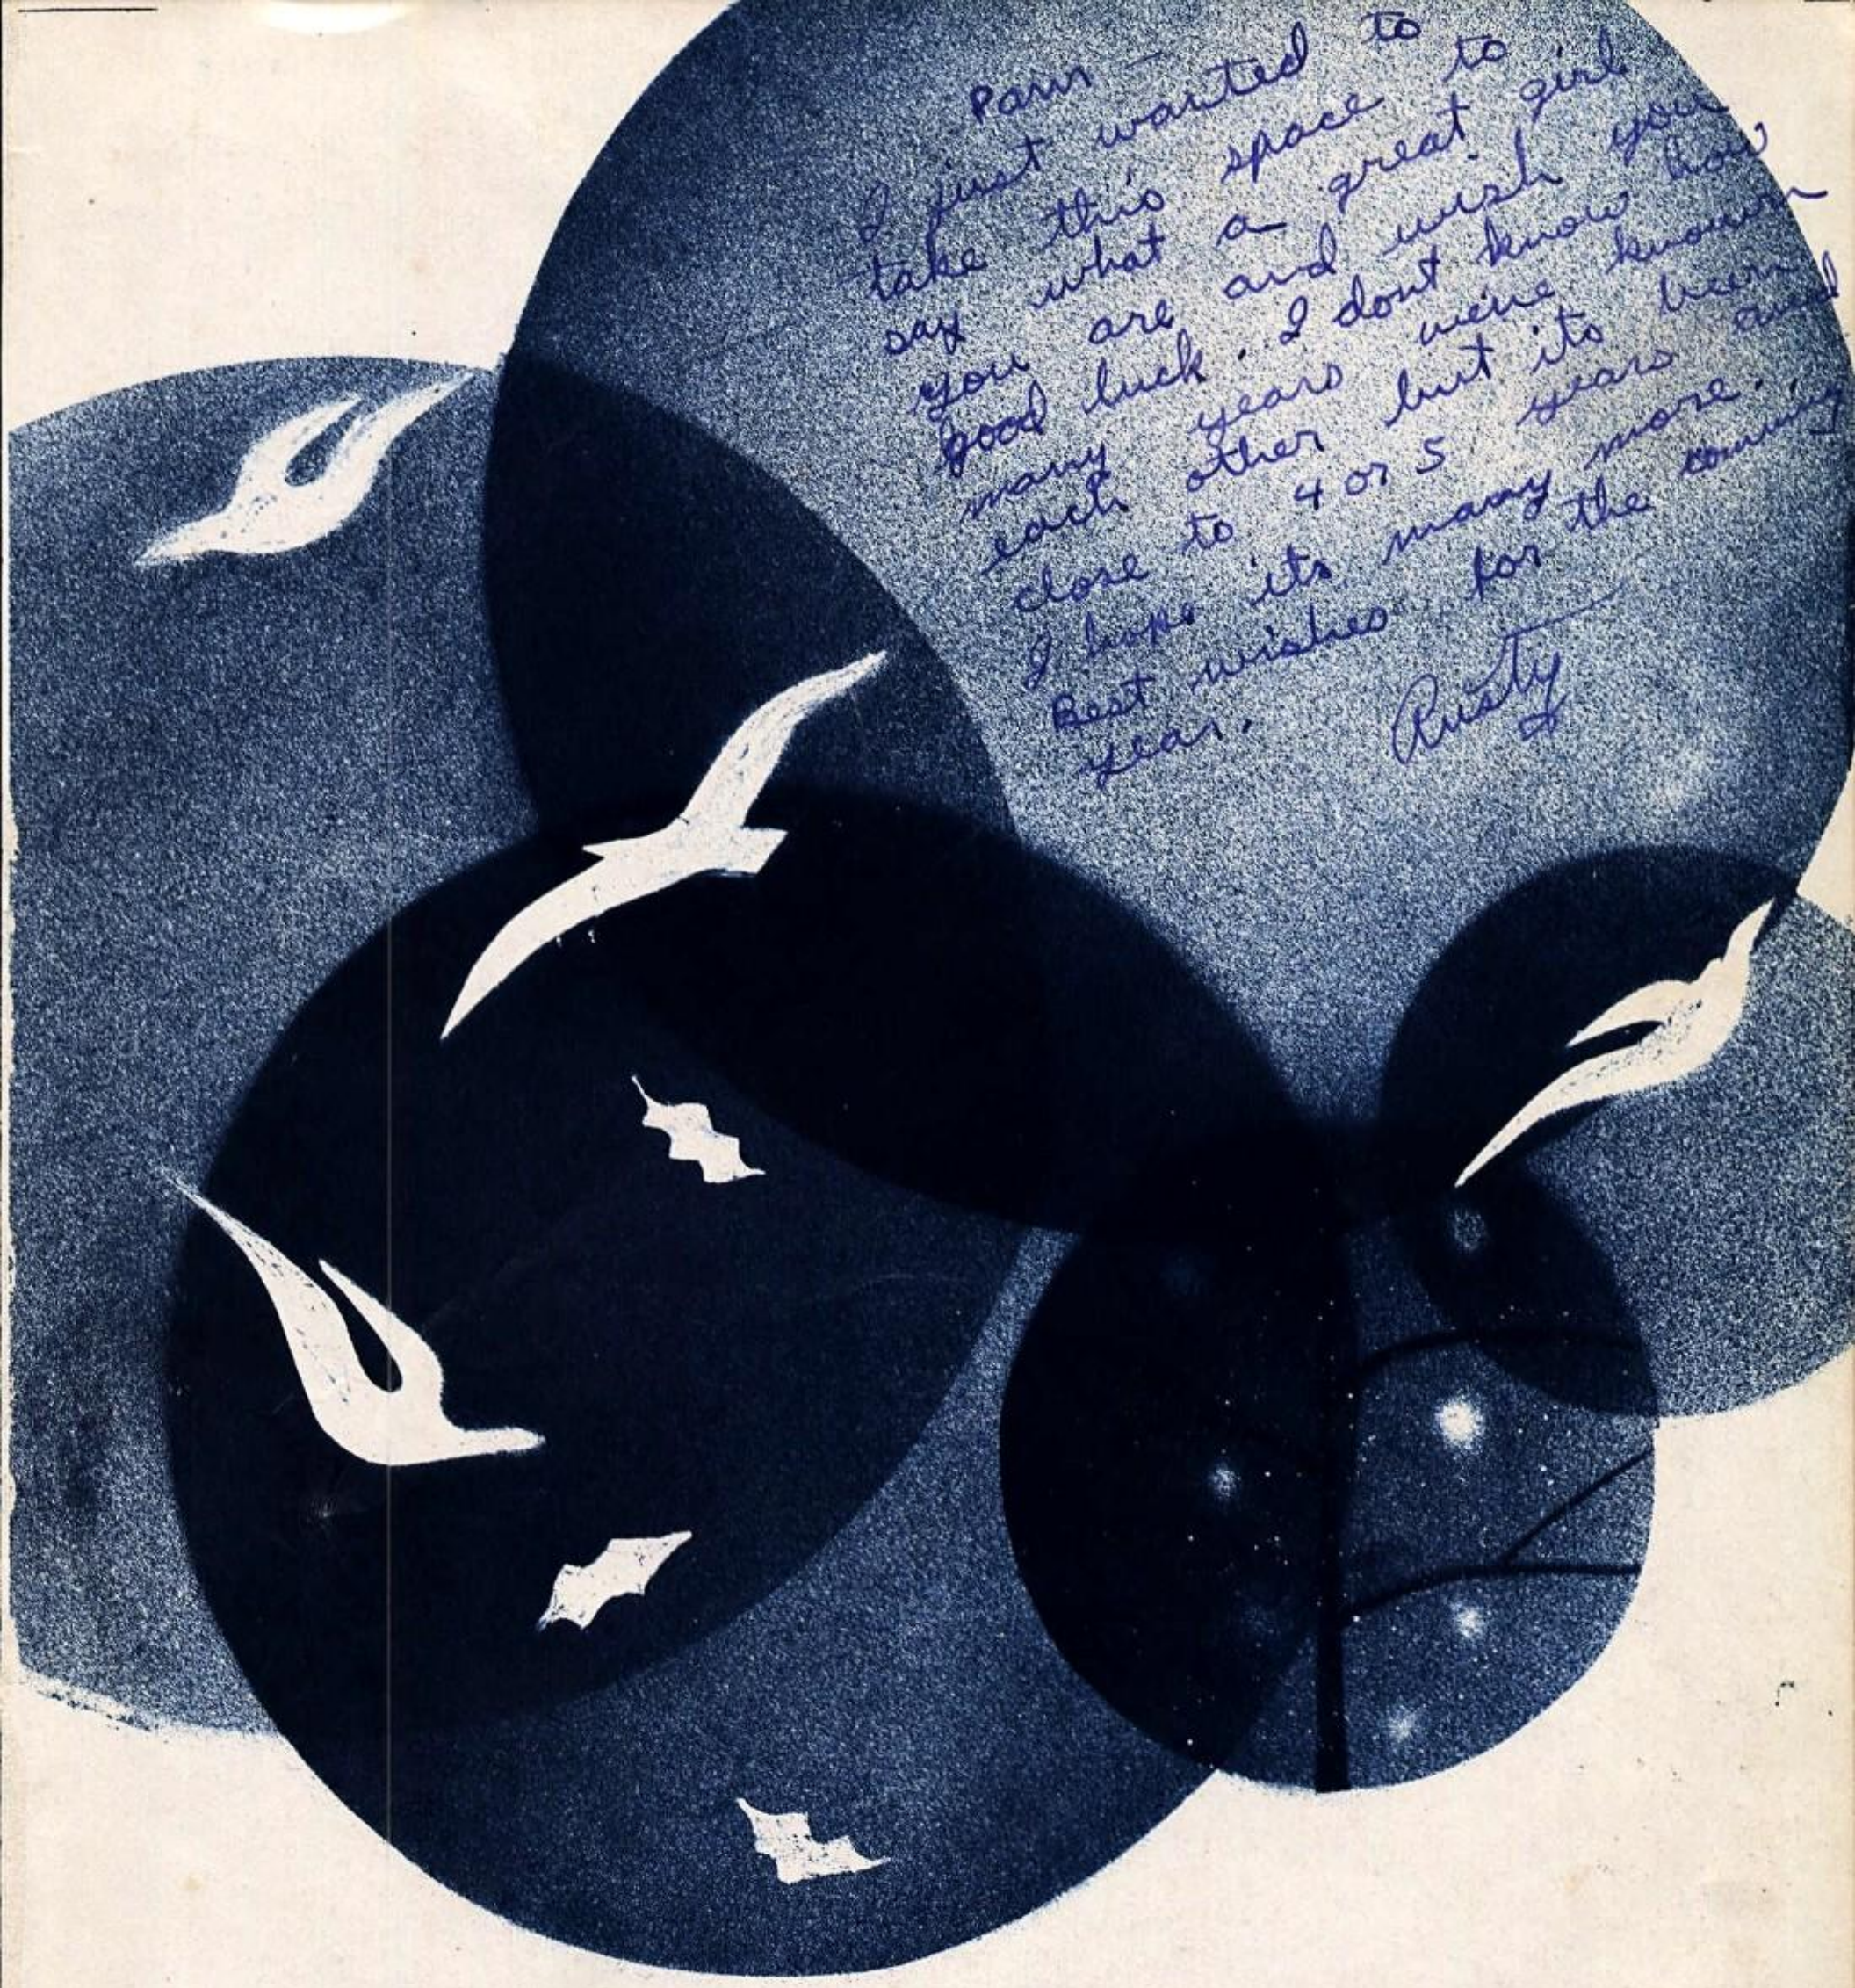
you stay Happy and have fun with Jim (of course) this Summer - Hope I can be happy to - Don't get MARRied - Now
A friend always, Lei Ann



Pam
I just wanted to take this space to say what a great girl you are and much good luck. I don't know you very well but I hope we have many years to be close to 4 or 5 years each other but its been a great year. Best wishes for the coming

There Is A Time For Growing

Pam is a great girl and a very good cook.
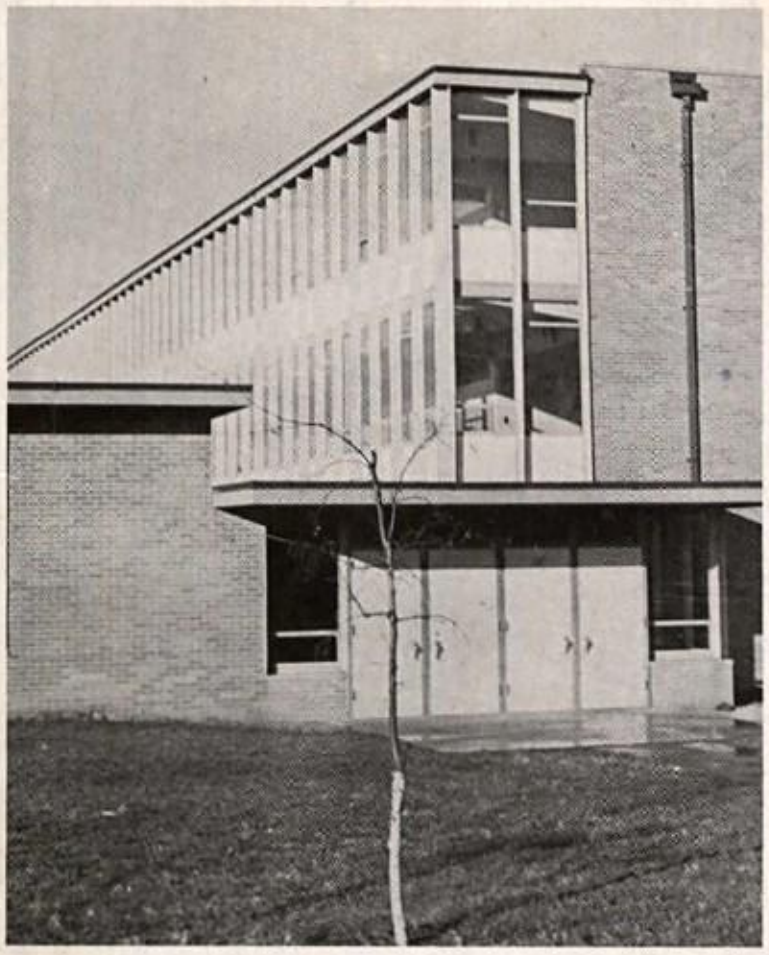
Too bad for all your gurps.
Love Jim



There is a time for everything — large and small — hard and easy — work and play. There is a time of growing. As the tree grows so does the teenager. During the high school years most teenagers grow to maturity.

There is a time to enjoy one's youth: the challenges of new experiences, the adventures of learning, the satisfaction of its activities — that time is now. In the years to come the 1962 Viking Log will show that at Parkview there is a time to be remembered.

FRANKLIN GAMBLE

ROBERT D. HENRY

DR. ARCH LOWE, JR.

Progress today to meet the challenges of the future is the keynote of the Springfield Public Schools under the administration of Mr. Willard J. Graff, superintendent.

To this end, the educational program has again been deepened and enriched this year with the addition of Russian and advanced courses in Spanish and French to the foreign language dapartment, of economics to the social studies area, and of mathematical analysis to the mathematics department; with the emphasis being placed on President Kennedy's physical fitness program in the physical education department, and the offering of a seminar on "isms" for the teachers, high school students, and the public.

That Springfield's growing student population may be provided proper physical facilities a program of building has been far-sightedly planned and effectively carried out.

The success of every business is dependent in the final analysis upon the policies, the degree of control, the freedom granted, the judgment, the tolerance of the governing body of that business. In the same way the success of the Springfield Public Schools depends in a large measure upon the kind of men who make up the Springfield Board of Education.

The citizens of Springfield have elected to their school board men who have the vision to anticipate the needs of the schools and the practical judgment to cope with the constantly arising problems. Their only compensation for the many hours spent away from their private affairs is the satisfaction that comes from making an important contribution to the community and to the nation through the education of today's youth.

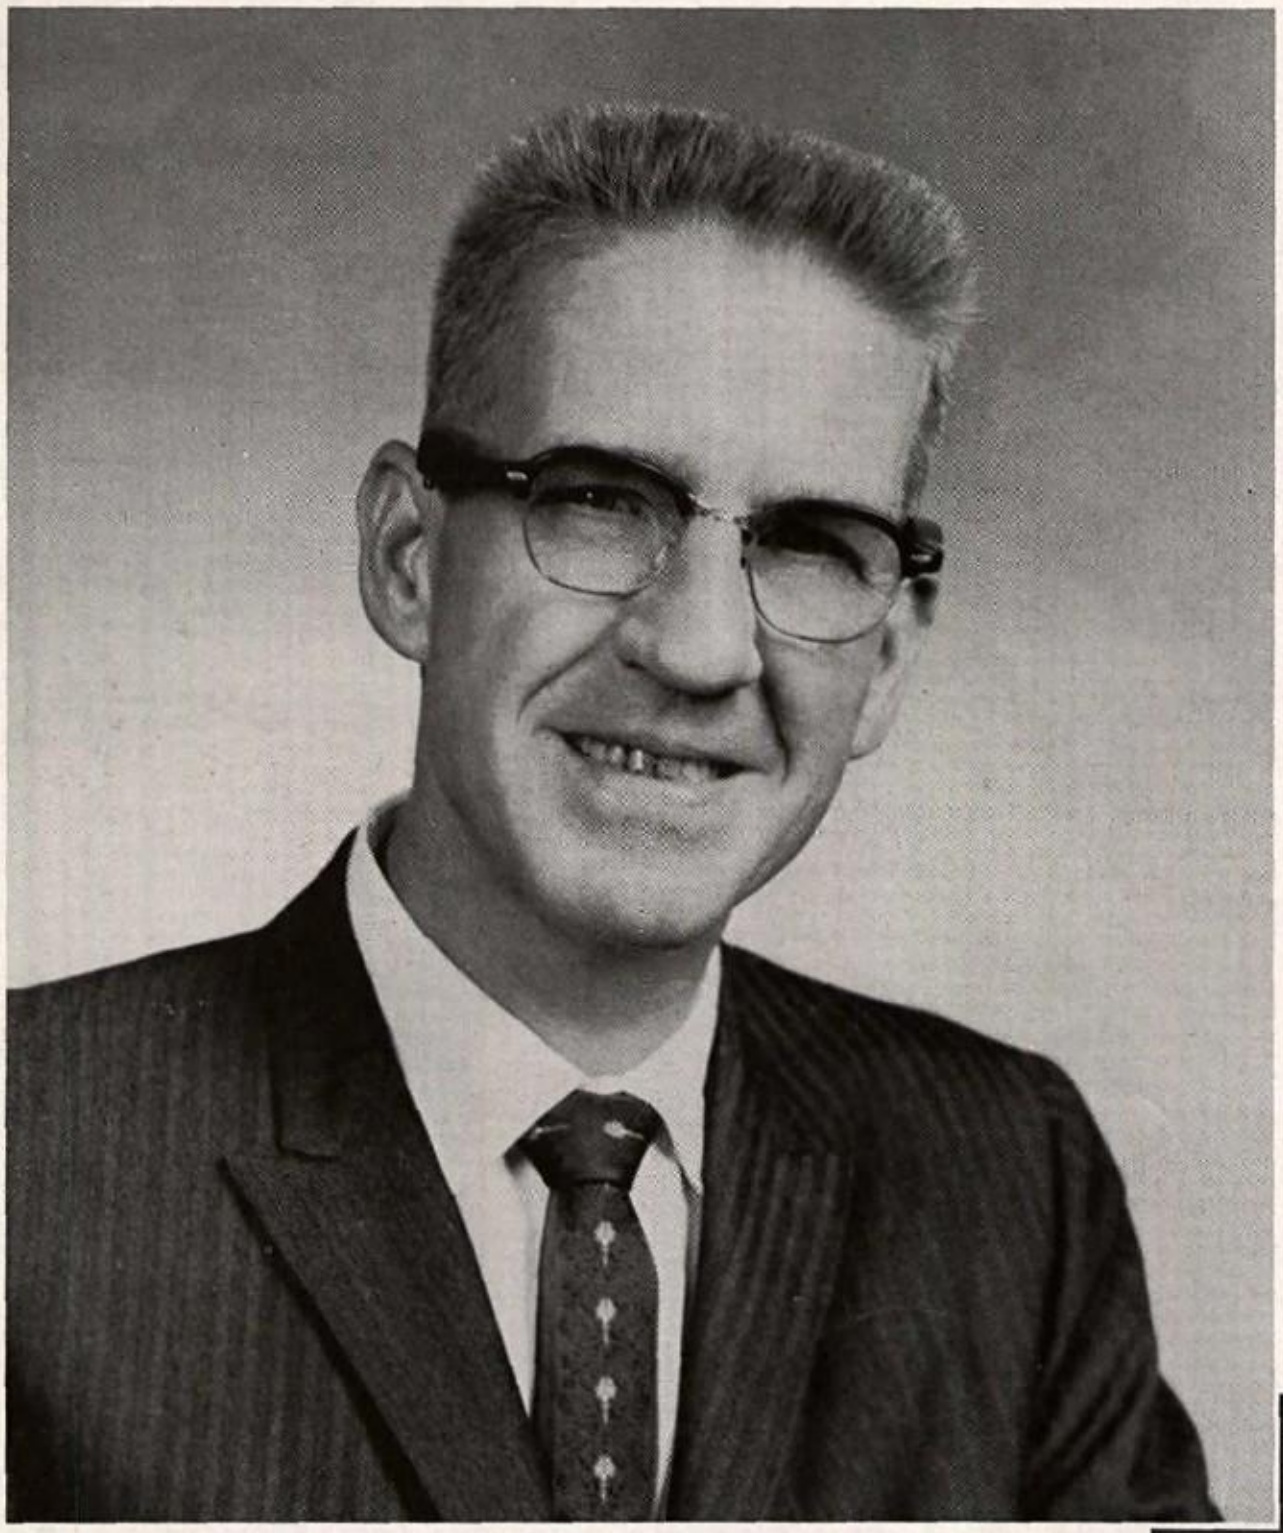
Principals And Counselors . . .



MR. HOMER KESTERSON

Principal

One of the primary factors in making life in Parkview a time worthy of remembrance is its principal, Mr. Homer Kesterson.

His engaging humor, his sympathetic understanding, and his warm friendliness win the love of members of the student body and faculty. His effectiveness as an administrator commands their esteem.

Mr. James Ford, assistant principal, likewise brings a harmonious blend of firmness, efficiency, and understanding to his task which earns him affection and respect.

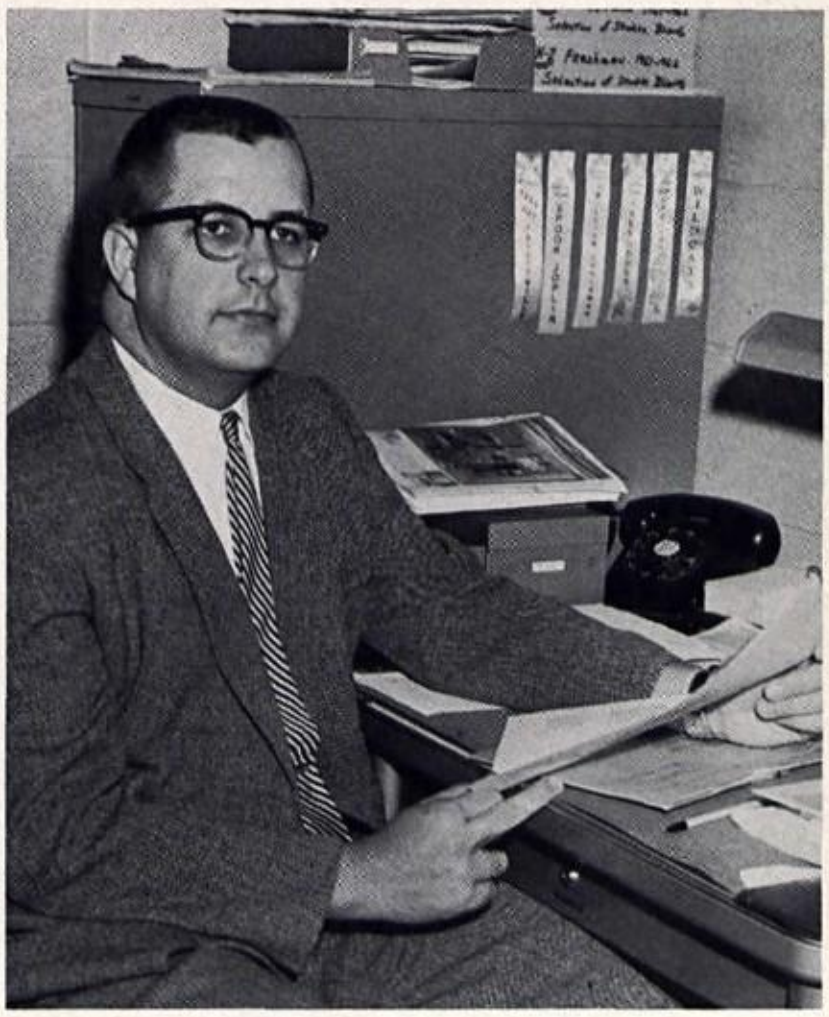
CONCERNING THIS ONE . . . Miss Lena Davison and Mr. Fred Balden, junior counselors, review a list of the juniors who will be taking the National Merit Scholarship test.

ROLL CALL . . . Mr. John Bell, freshman counselor, checks the pink sheet for freshman absentees. This check is made every morning and a record kept.



Theirs Is A Time . . .

FOR ME? . . . Miss Helen Walker receives a bouquet as a climax to a skit honoring her which was presented by members of the faculty at the annual teachers' picnic.

The members of Parkview's faculty give their time and devotion to the preparation of the students for meeting the demands of adulthood.

Highly trained and professionally skilled, these men and women bring to their teaching keen insight, warm understanding, and a deep concern for their students.

Dear Pam,
Well, six years have past and it seems we've gone a long way. I hope your wire like looks up and everything is fine. I mean we don't want to get along but I feel we have alot in common. Be good I don't worry.

The Classes

It's Time For Graduation.

The senior class of 1962 had time for everything.

Foremost they found time for study. Five members of the class were National Merit semi-finalists, seven others received letters of commendation, and many of the class regularly appeared on the honor roll.

There was still time for activities they will long remember: the Viking Festival, Stunt Night, the senior class play, Baccalaureate, the prom, and finally graduation.

Now the time has come for this year's class to step out in the world as graduates of Parkview High School.

FRONT RANK . . . Stepping into the lead of this year's senior class are Mike Lindsey, president; Pam Ling, secretary; and Hannah Heinneman, vice-president.

EATING IN ELEGANCE . . . Adding a festive touch to the ordinary atmosphere of the cafeteria, these girls formed a luncheon club and on Wednesdays brought a spread which usually included sandwiches, salad, baked beans, potato chips, drink, and dessert. Flowers, candles, and a table cloth added the final stylish touch. Members of the group included Nancy Spurlock, Jeffi Williams, Kathie Doak, Susie Young, Leslie Eells, Pat Westfall, Jane Juracek, Ann Baldwin, Pam Ling, and Katy McElhany.

For Juniors This Was A Time . . .

The time came for this year's junior class to share in many activities open to upperclassmen.

Many of the class members participated in the Junior-Senior Choir, on both varsity and B team sports and pep squads, in Lassies, and in dramatics.

The National Merit Scholarship test was taken by some of the class members. Other tests such as the College Boards were also taken.

Next year these students will take the lead as the senior class of 1963.

Pam, I've enjoyed knowing you, cutie, and hope we had a few more times like the present & Hagerty & Hauer fun this summer and stay sweet. See ya next year.

As Sophomores . . .

Lack of things to do with their time was no problem to the sophomore class.

Into their crowded schedule of classes, they squeezed such activities as clubs, inter-scholastic sports, and the social events of the school year.

Contests and concerts, term papers and tests, push-ups and plane geometry, drivers' training and dress-up day — all combined to make a busy and productive year.

SERVING THE SOPHS . . . Elected to serve as officers of the sophomore class were Steve Stracke, president; Janet Dykman, secretary; and David Kershenbaum, vice-president.

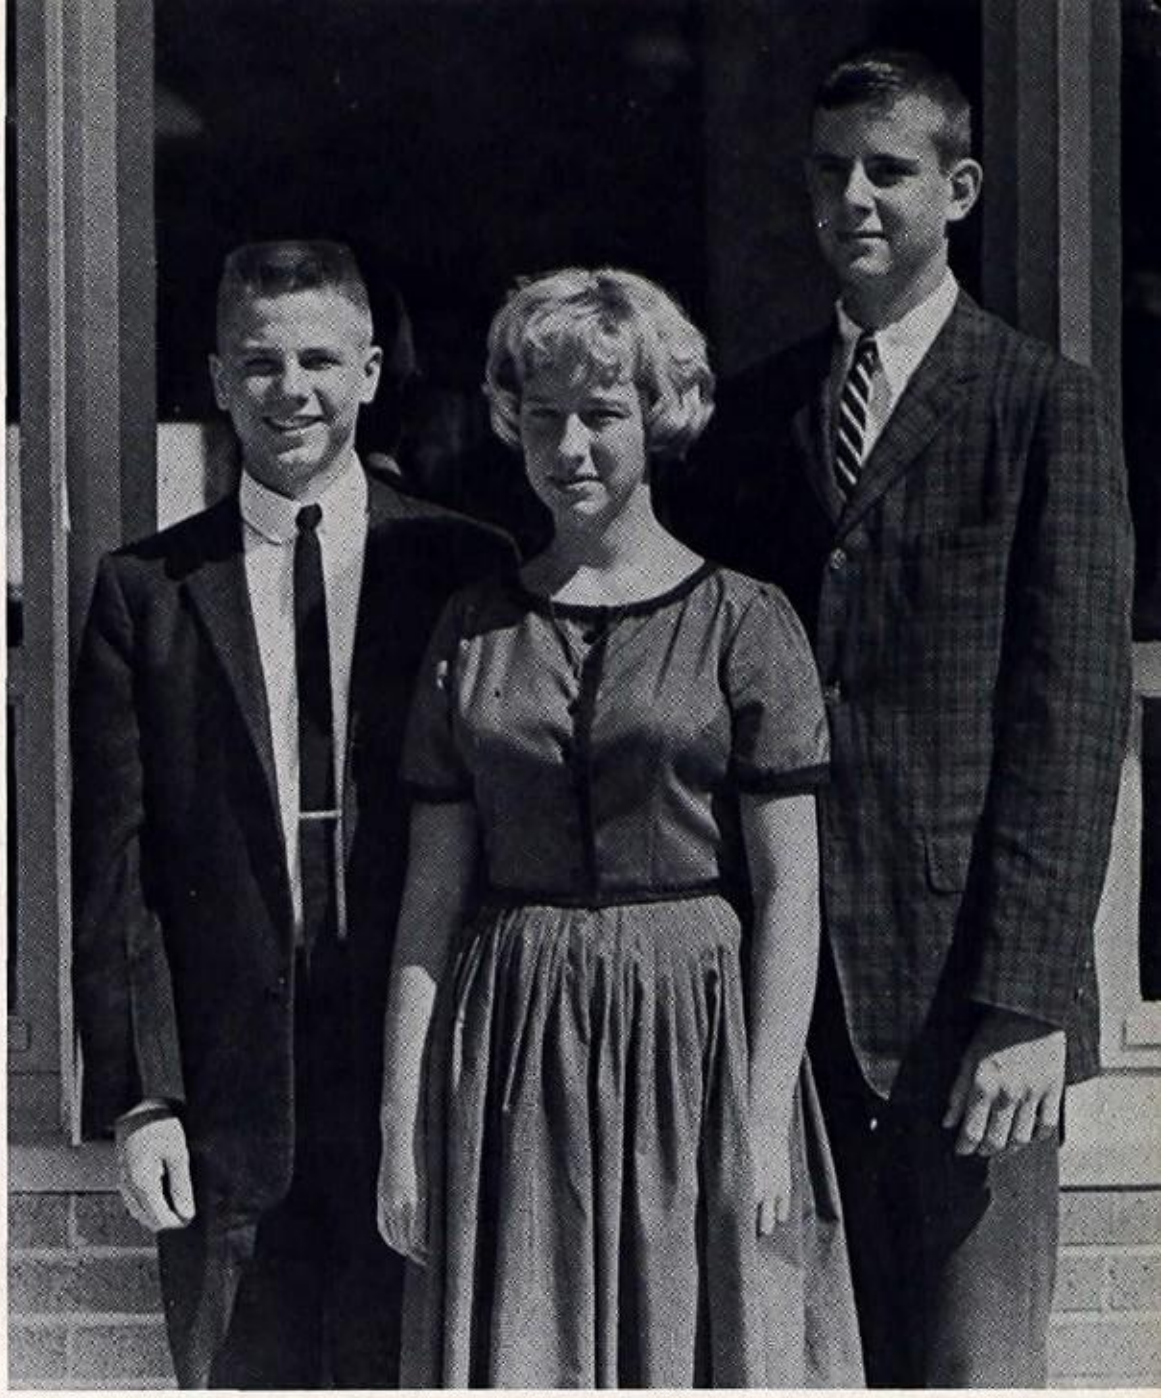
They're Freshmen!

The freshmen, during their first year at Parkview, found time for many events.

Always there was time for fun, for making new friends, for striving to make the honor roll, and for attending many school activities.

As they look back, they remember the thrills of the Freshman Mixer, the class election, and of the experiences of their first Viking Festival.

They are proud of their achievements during 1961-62 as they turn the page, placing these memories in the past, and begin planning for their wonderful years ahead.



FIRST WITH THE FROSH . . . Elected to serve as officers of the freshman class were Bert Park, president; DeeDee Stockard, secretary; and Ken McCoy, vice-president.

Lunch Time Was . . .

HITTA HOMER! . . . During the lunch hours during World Series week, students congregated in the Student Center around the portable TV set to follow the fortunes of their favored team. Making the most of every minute, some of the more dedicated students continued to give at least part of their attention to their lesson preparation.

Dear Pam -
Sure has been nice knowing you. Oh gosh doesn't seem like this year's already over! Lots of luck to you next year and to you & Jim
Love,
Arde P.

Communication . . .

The Language Arts program helps the students to think clearly and honestly, to communicate effectively, and to listen intelligently, all of which are basic for maintaining democratic ways of living.

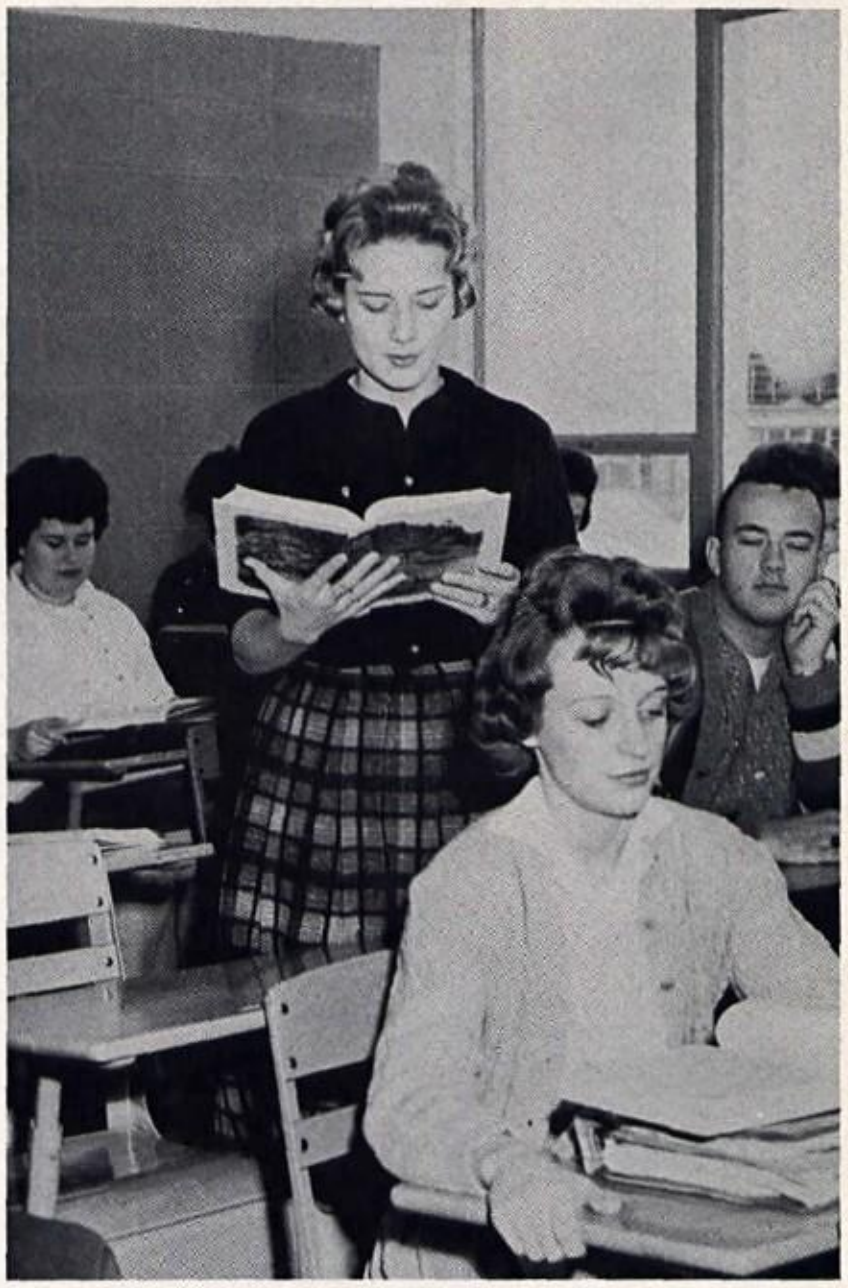
Through this program, it is possible for the student to gain understanding through the reflection of human experiences found in literature, to express his own ideas through writing and speaking, and to learn to report accurately and concisely.

PLAN AHEAD . . . These public speaking students are planning the annual Parkview Speech and Debate Tournament. The students are Donnie Cooley, Pat Fulton, Jerry Walsh, Ralph Palmer, Paul Abbott, and Steve Gamble.

COPY WRITERS . . . These Journalism II reporters are busy writing copy for the High Times. The reporters are Jane Peck, Sandra Hanselman, Virginia Hedinger, Kathy Bowman, Jimmy Collinson, and Brenda Reynolds.

. . . Skills Are Developed.

ALVIN, A-L-V-I-N . . . OK! David Seville, portrayed by Dick Haymes, directs the three chipmunks: Theodore, Sandy James; Alvin, Beth Banke; and Simon, Janet Barnhouse, in the Chipmunk song presented in the dramatics Christmas program.



READING IN RHYTHM . . . Linda Sisco reads a poetry selection from American Literature. Barbara Rogers and Pat Baltz follow her interpretation in their texts while Rick Nelson apparently dreams of faraway places conjured up by the poet.

READ ALONG WITH BURTON . . . Interest and understanding of Coleridge's "Rime of the Ancient Mariner" is heightened by Richard Burton's recording of the poem. Listening in Miss Evalyn Johnson's English Literature class are Sandy James, Helen Brewer, Tom Wells, and Aino Maanien.

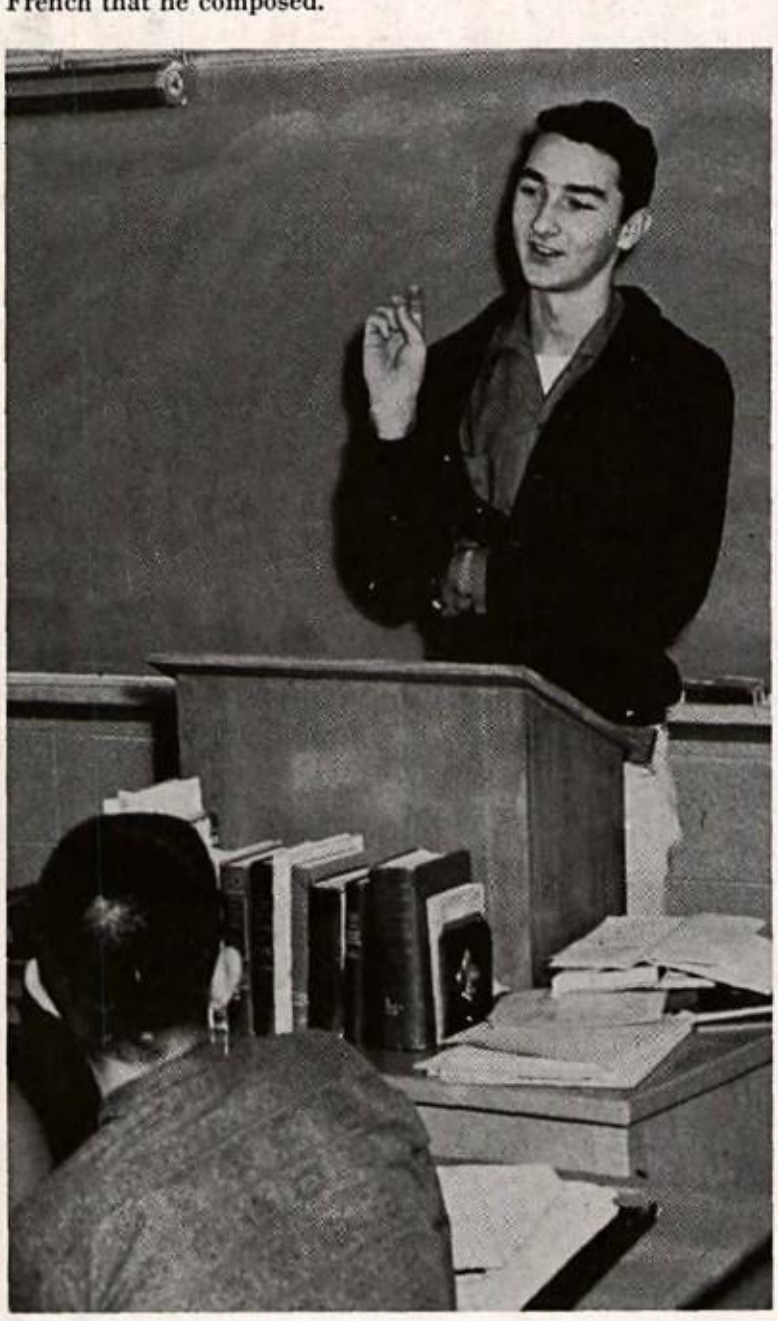
READING FOR RADIO . . . Gary Wolfe, Wendel Stewart, Steve Schweitzer, and Julie Williams work with Mrs. Jo Alice Gillihan taping a play script written for radio broadcasting, a medium which demands interpretation of characters and action through the spoken line.

Four Foreign Languages . . .

RECORDING STARS . . . Using the tape recorder to improve their French pronunciation are Randy Ferehan and Nancy Juracek, first-year French students.

A WHOLE NEW ALPHABET . . . Sally Aton, Parkview; Margi Yearout, Hillcrest; Joe Giseler, Central, check a translation assignment with Mr. M. M. Rabuka, teacher of Russian.

LISTEN, MY FRIENDS . . . Second-year students listen to Steve Brite as he gives an oral report totally in French that he composed.



OH, ABOUT THIS HIGH . . . Interpreting a French drama are Janeann Breuer, Linda Haggerman, and Steve MacDonald who are third and fourth-year students.

. . . Offered.

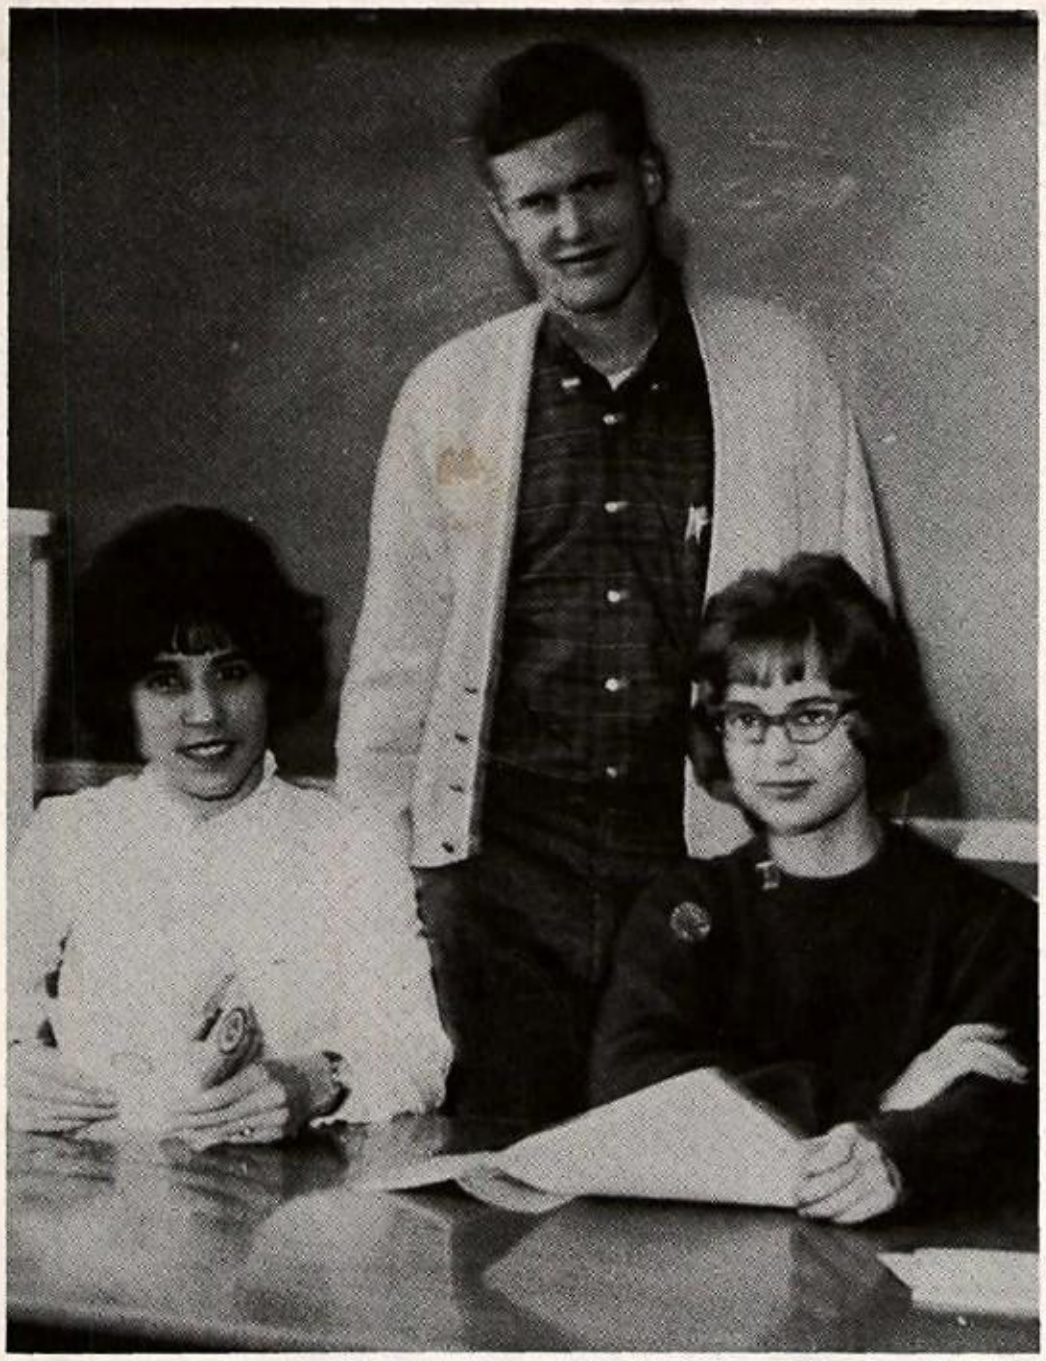
Through the study of a foreign language students are given an opportunity to become aware of the different customs and cultures.

In addition to the two years in Latin and Spanish and the four in French, Russian was offered this year for the first time. The classes were taught after school on the Central campus to Central, Parkview, and Hillcrest students.

OLÉ . . . Besides the learning of the Spanish language, Spanish students study the cultures, customs, and dress of the Spanish-speaking countries. Demonstrating the Jarabe Tapatio, the Mexican hat dance, are Gary Morris and Nancy Spurlock, second-year students. Accompanying on the guitar is Rusty Burton.

SANTA NOX, ALMA NOX . . . The traditional Christmas carols sound beautiful no matter in what language they are sung. During the Christmas season carols could be heard ringing out of this Latin I class.

Study Of Social Changes Explains . . .



From a study of the past, an understanding of the present, and a preparation for the future is given through the classes in the social studies department.

The various courses offered stress the personal aspects of citizenship, encourage the development of a historical sense of the "stream of history," emphasize the changes in the way of living brought about by the modern industrial world and the growth of the United States as a world power, and develop an interest in contemporary economic principles, problems, and practices, as well as an understanding of the physical, economic, and political geography of the various continents and countries of the world.

Students may also make a study of human behavior and of human relationships both between individuals and social groups.

LABOR REPORT . . . Many special reports were given in the first economics class at Parkview this year. Lyn Johnson, Lloyd Wright, and Jeanne Palmer give the results of an interview with a prominent local labor leader.

TIME TIMED TEST . . . American problems students take a timed test on current affairs published by Time magazine. Taking the test are Gene Buyan, Ronald Wright, Bob Ramsdell, Bob Lehnhoff, Larry Roesslet, and Gerry Weems.

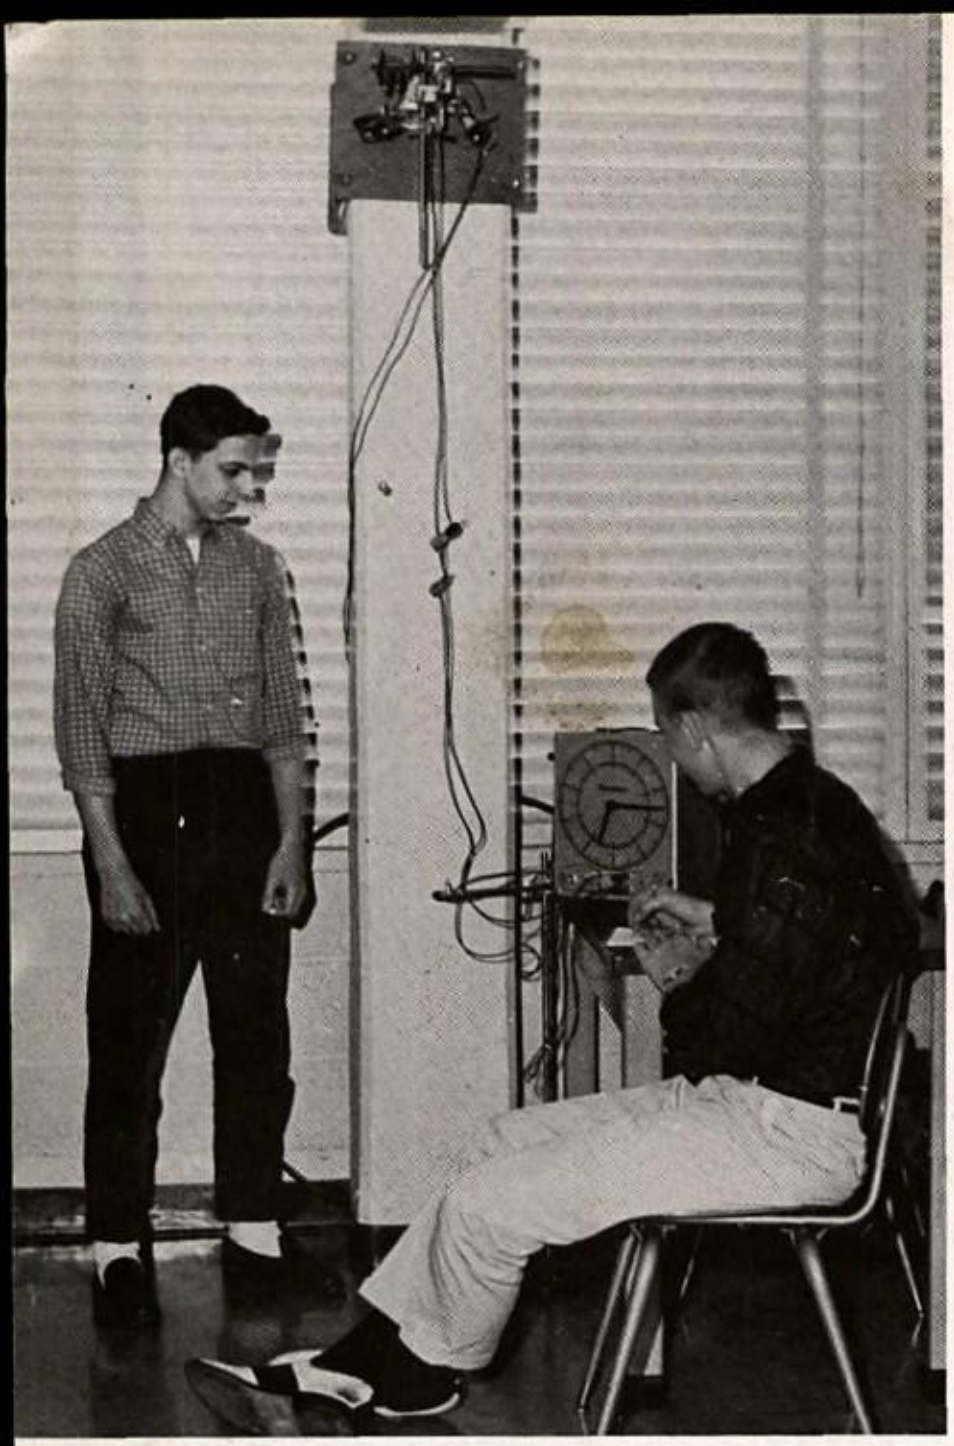
. . . Present, Prepares For Future.

THERE IT IS . . . Janine Boals and Bill Bates lead a discussion in their world history class on the country of India. Included were the political, geographical, and social aspects of the country.

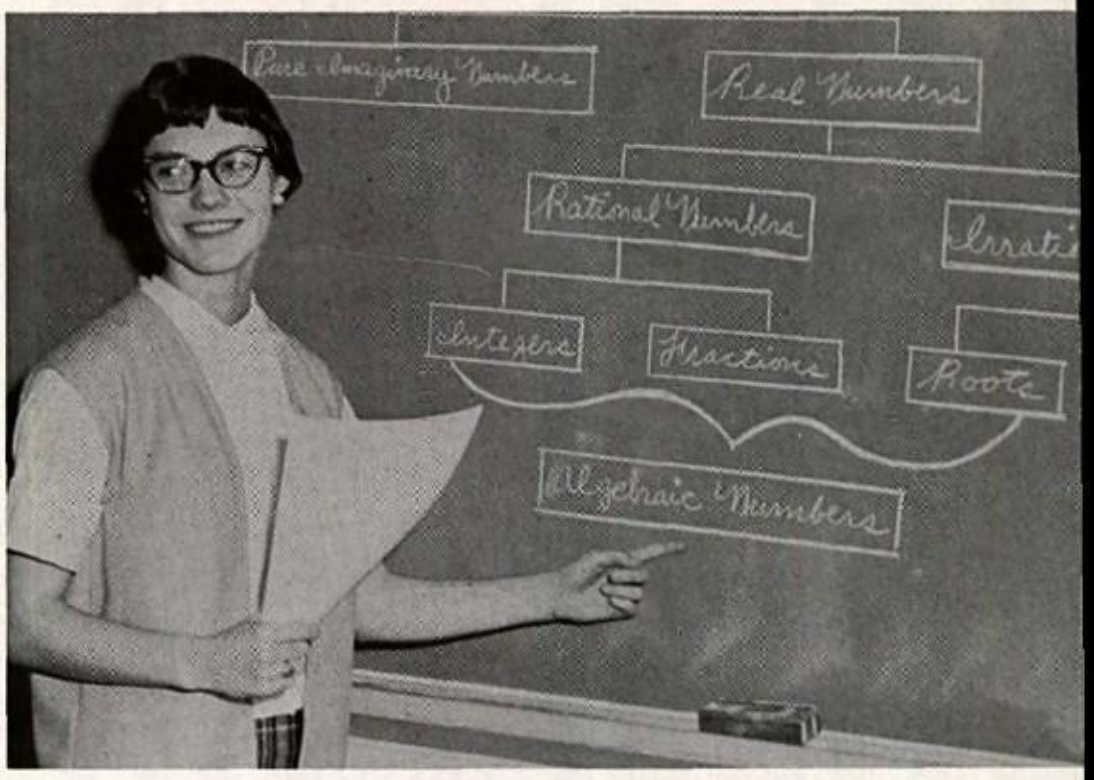
THE WORLD IS GETTING SMALLER . . . In world geography, a more intensive study of geographical facts and relationships is made of physical, economic, and political geography of the various continents. Judy Andrews points out one of the countries.

BE PROUD OF SPRINGFIELD . . . At the conclusion of a study of the American business system, the manager of the Chamber of Commerce, Ralph Powell, was invited to speak to some of the citizenship classes. Mr. Powell concluded his talk by showing slides of Springfield.

Technology Requires . . .

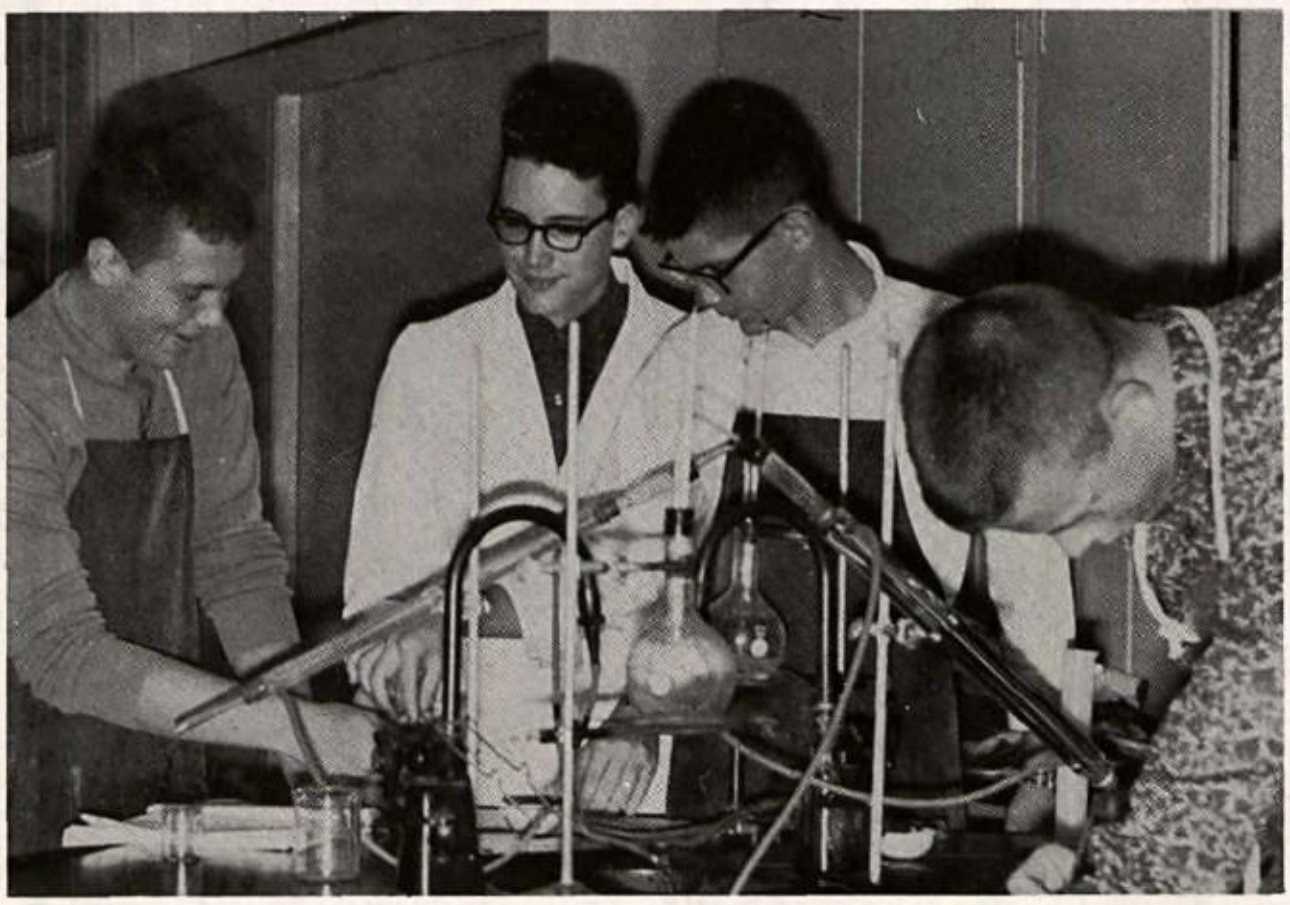


GOING DOWN, PLEASE . . . Tom Ferrell engages the device while Bill Dawson checks the time as the two physics students find the specific gravity of Room 403.



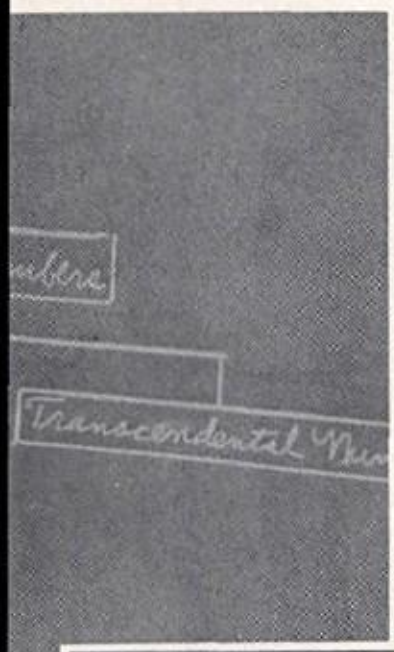
PICK A NUMBER . . . One of the topics in mathematical analysis, a new mathematics course offered for the first time this year, is the classification of numbers. Phyllis Templeton gives an oral report on the criteria for a number to be an algebraic number.

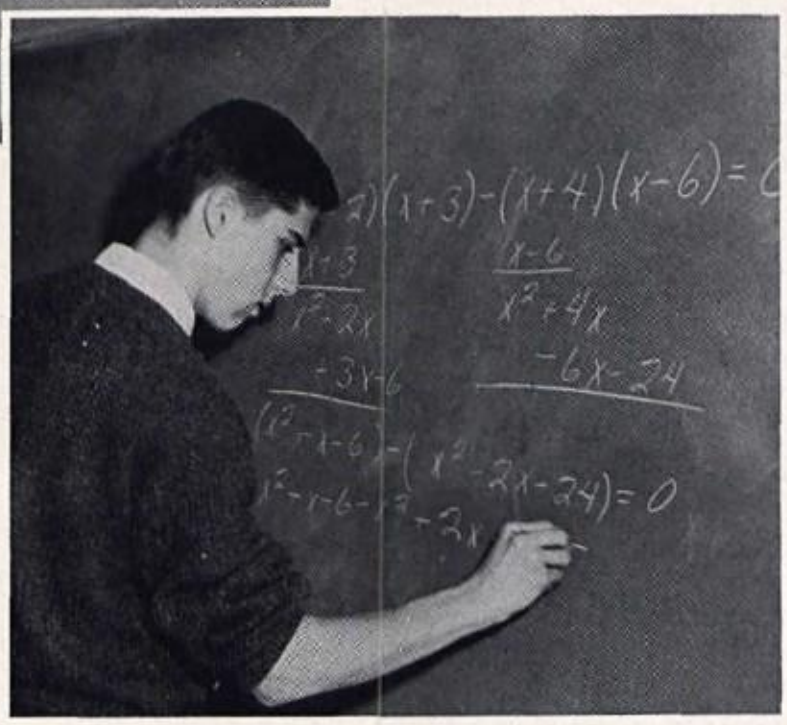
BUBBLE, BUBBLE, TOIL, AND TROUBLE . . . Through a series of glass tubes, beakers, and tubing, Steve Aliber, Ronald Wright, Bob Sommers, and Raymond Carter work an experiment in condensation. Ronald was a chemistry laboratory assistant.

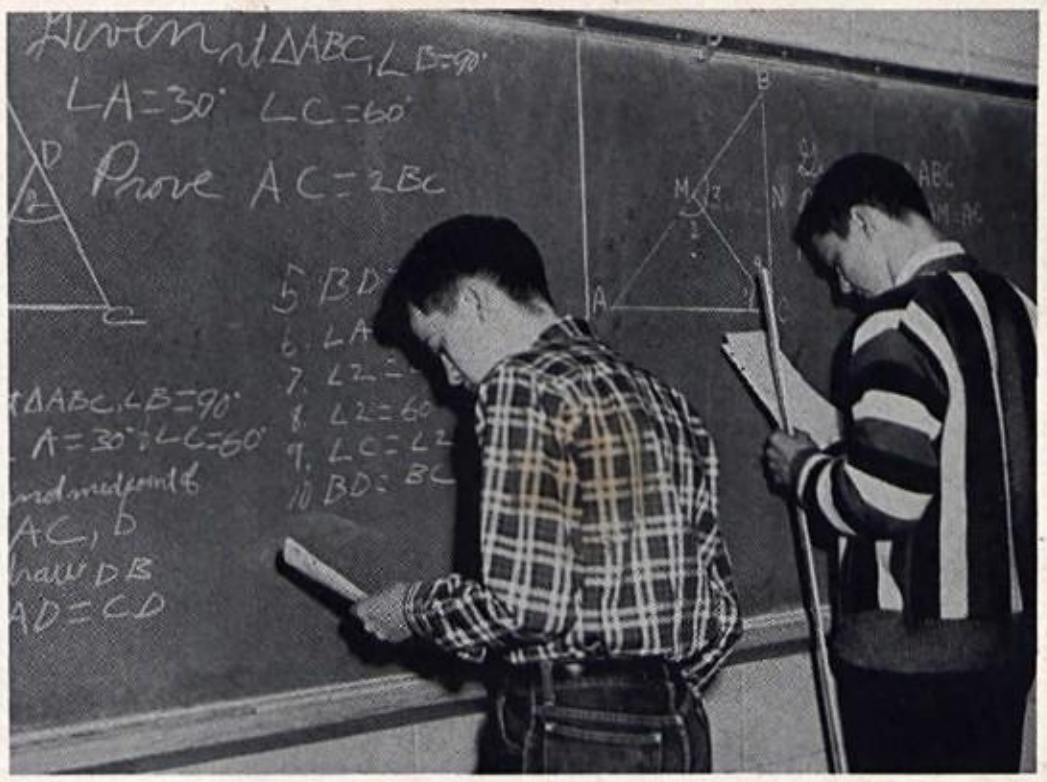


THE HEAD BONE'S CONNECTED TO . . . Attempting to reorganize a pile of bones into a calf is more fascinating than working a jig-saw puzzle for Jack Hooper, biology student.

. . . Skill In Science, Mathematics,



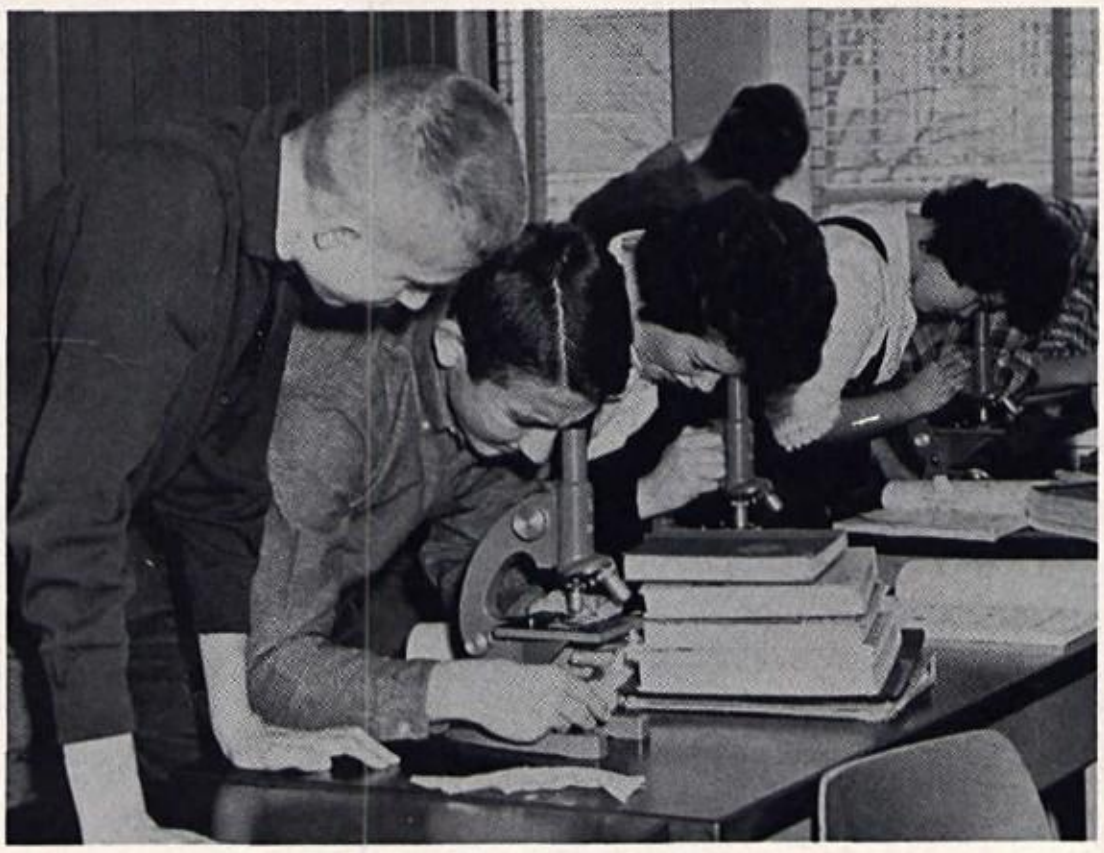




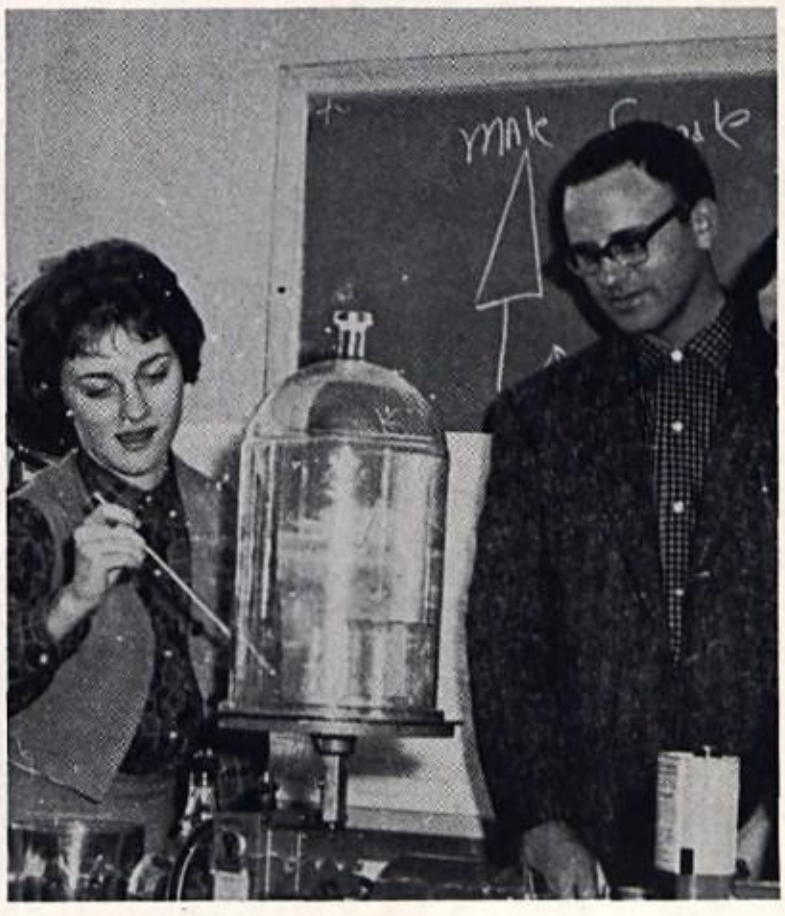
LOOK AT IT FROM ANOTHER ANGLE . . . Greg Lawson and Ronnie Bowen progress logically along the necessary steps of proof in their study of geometry.

THE GREAT UNKNOWN . . . X's, Y's, multiplication, and division seem to be the never ending factors in solving algebra problems. Battling against these factors, Guy Bates holds his ground.

I SPY . . . Studying cell structure under the microscope are Mike Newton, Sammy Darnell, Vivian Nixon, and Carolyn Ott in their biology class.



UNDER PRESSURE . . . Under the supervision of Mr. Wayne Gibson, general science teacher, Susan Payne checks the progress of an experiment to determine the effect of pressure on the boiling point of various liquids.



Business, . . .

EYES ON COPY . . . Speed and accuracy are the goals for these typing students. Students learn the basic fundamentals of typing and business forms. They drill to improve their spelling.

DEAR MR. LANGLEY . . . Janet Barnhouse transcribes a letter from the Stenorette with the assistance of Diane Suttee. Students in secretarial practice learn to use many types of office machines.

6248 PLUS 8432 . . . Judy Ellison adds a column of figures on the full-key adding machine while Carol Stewart helps Tony Miller balance his credit sheet on the posting machine. Students in the business classes gain experience by helping with grade cards and other records and through performing many other clerical services for the Parkview staff.

. . . Home Economics Offer Practical Training.

In the business education department, students are provided opportunities to study organization and operation of business in relation to the democratic forms of government, to develop personal skills, and to gain better training for their chosen vocation.

An opportunity to develop skills of practical value both for preparation for motherhood and a happy family life and also for a career in the field is given through the study of foods and nutrition, clothing, and home management in the home economics classes.

STITCHIN' AND RIPPIN' . . . Martha Garbee, Norma Singleton, and Diana Viles work at the machines on the garments they designed for themselves in the advanced clothing class. Other students do necessary handwork.

COOKING UP SOMETHING . . . Karen Gordon, Cheryl McQuerter, Beverly Zinter, and Becky Bradley try out the cooking techniques they have studied in class.

TIME TO DINE . . . Linda Sacs acts as hostess to Marilyn Harless, Sonnie Eutsler, Cheryl McQuerter, Karen Gordon, and special guest Miss Lena Davison at the company dinner prepared in their Home Economics I class.

Hands Are Trained In Skills . . .

BUTTERING IT UP . . . Ervin Dock busily works on interior brick laying in his on-the-job training phase of COE.

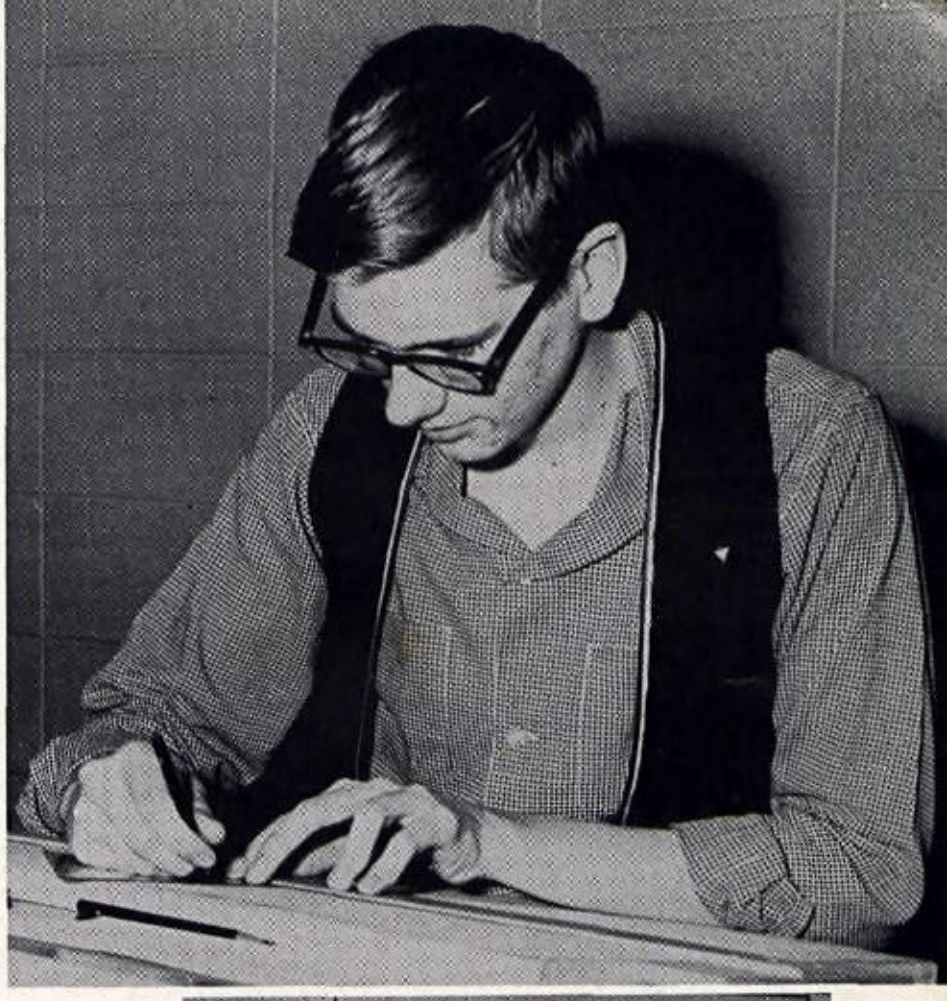
SAFELY HOME . . . Mr. Harlin Hutsell, drivers training teacher, checks out Gary Turner on his on-the-street driving. Bill Roderick rides along as passenger.

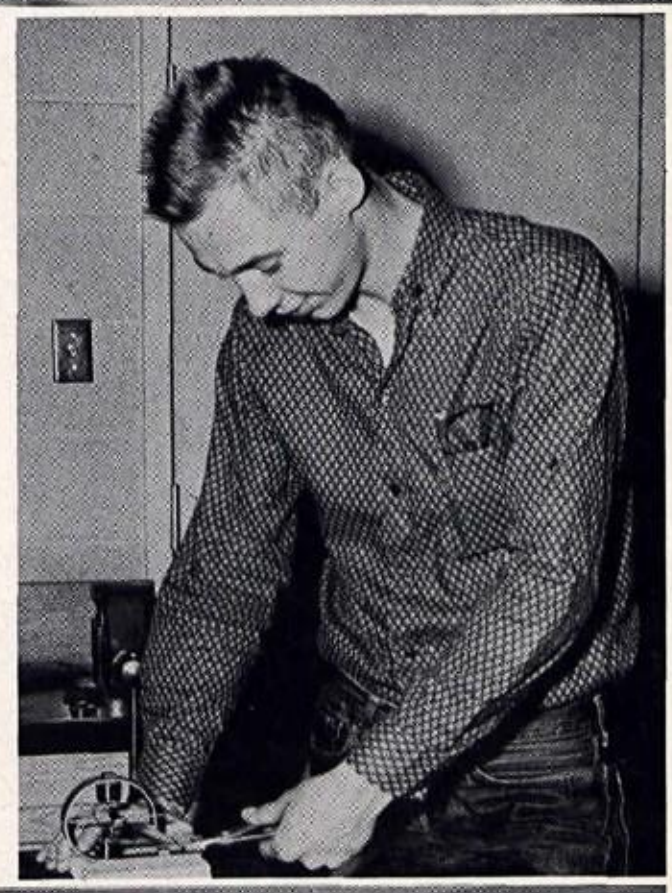
WHAT SIZE, PLEASE? . . . Ed Laughlin, working as a salesman, checks over the stock in his on-the-job training.

OPEN WIDE . . . Katy Fulton, dental assistant, prepares the necessary implements for the next patient.

. . . For Practical Use.

BACK TO THE DRAWING BOARD . . . First comes the plan. In his drafting class, Kip King begins work on a set of drawings. Both general and advanced drafting classes are available.

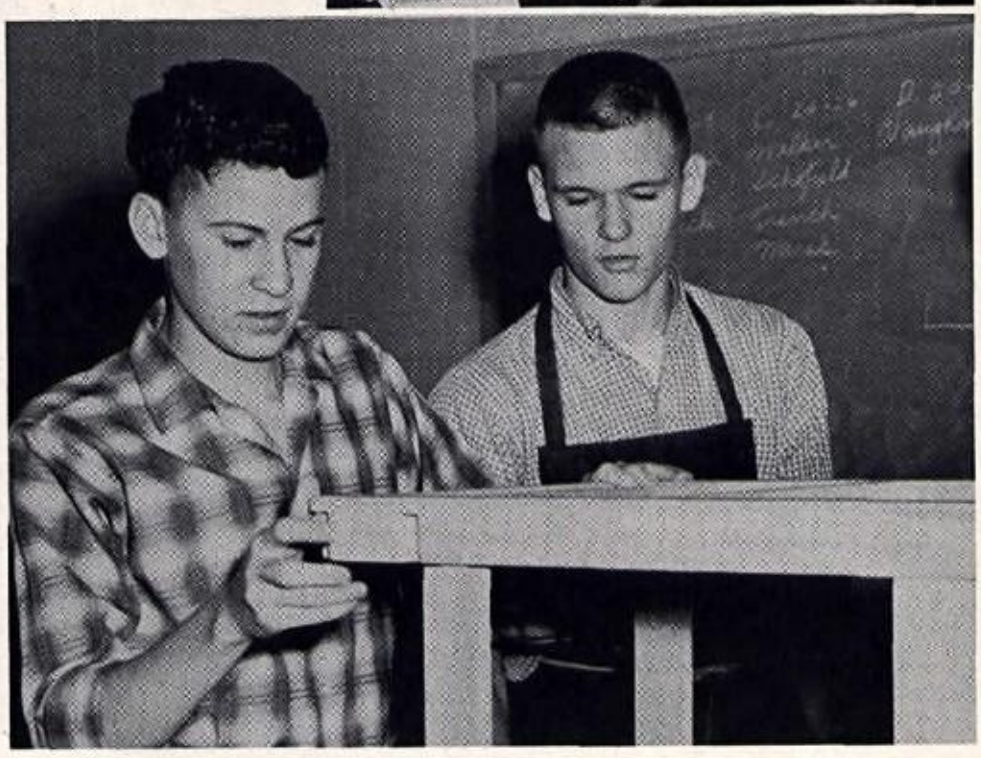




TIGHTENING UP . . . Norman Keen adjusts a bolt on a small electric motor which he is making in his electricity class.

FINISHING TOUCHES . . . Leroy Claypoole, nearing the end of his project, measures metal for his table's edge. Beginning and advanced metalwork are offered in the industrial arts department.

CHECKING OUT THE JOINTS . . . Gary Lawson shows Jay Linthicum how he has fitted one of the many joints in the kneehole desk he is making in his advanced woodwork class.

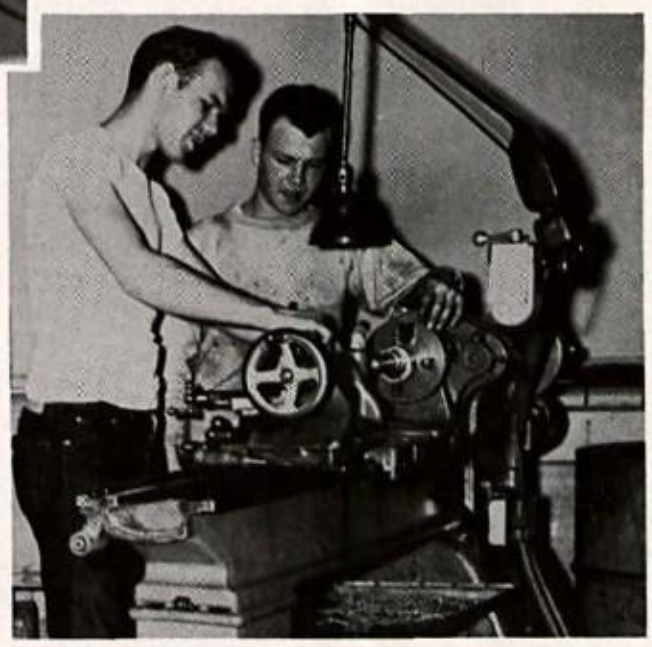


On The Job

Training for a specific vocation in high school is considered very important.

The Vocational Technical School provides the necessary education in selecting occupations in technical, trade and service fields of work. This school is a combined center for all of the public high schools and is conducted on a three-hour daily schedule. In addition to preparing the student for employment, the school assists the student in obtaining a job.

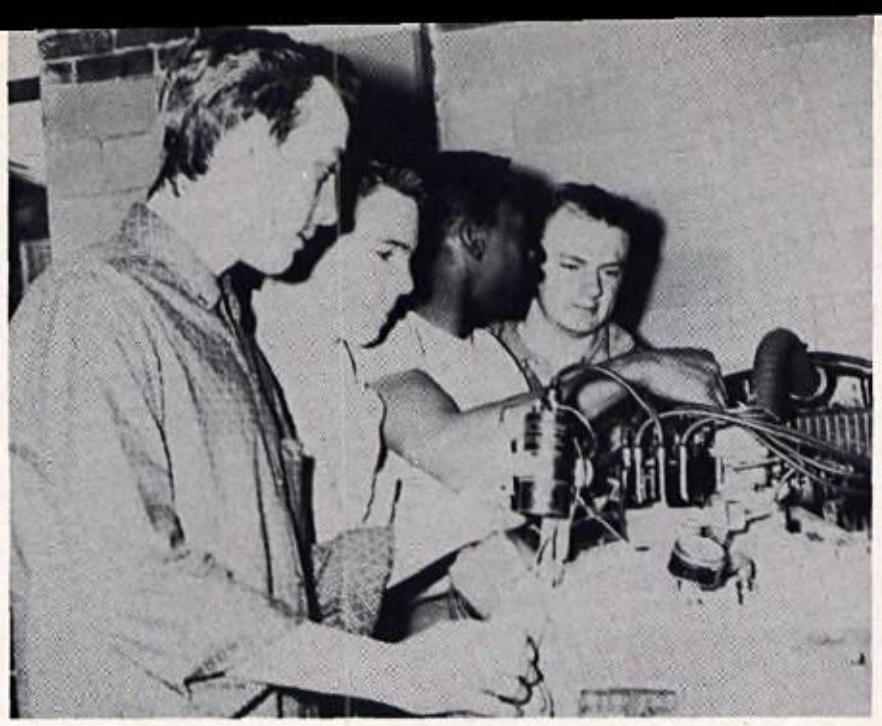
JUST A LITTLE TO THE LEFT . . . Says Mr. Chester Erickson as he assists Virginia Purdy in completing an assignment for his vocational technical drafting class. In the background are Tommy Warren, Gary Howard, and David Walker who are using the slide rule in finishing a class project.



IT'S LOOKING GOOD . . . Bob Long and J. V. Robinson look pleased as they are about to finish a small gear they have made with a metal lathe in Mr. Herbert Stratton's machine shop class.

BOYS USE RIVET SET AND BURRING MACHINE . . . These students are making square to round air-conditioning fittings in Mr. Sherman Bradley's vocational sheet metal class. At work are Richard Bean, Dale Benson, and Jerald Ghan.

KEEP THOSE MASKS UP . . . Wilford Judy demonstrates his welding ability with an electric arc welder as Jim Watts looks on. This is part of the training in Mr. Sherman Bradley's vocational sheet metal class.



SEE HOW IT RUNS . . . Ronnie Littlejohn, Danny Ash, Charles Cobb, and Ronnie Johns study the motor from an automobile. This is one of the many activities in Mr. George Freeze's vocational auto mechanics class.

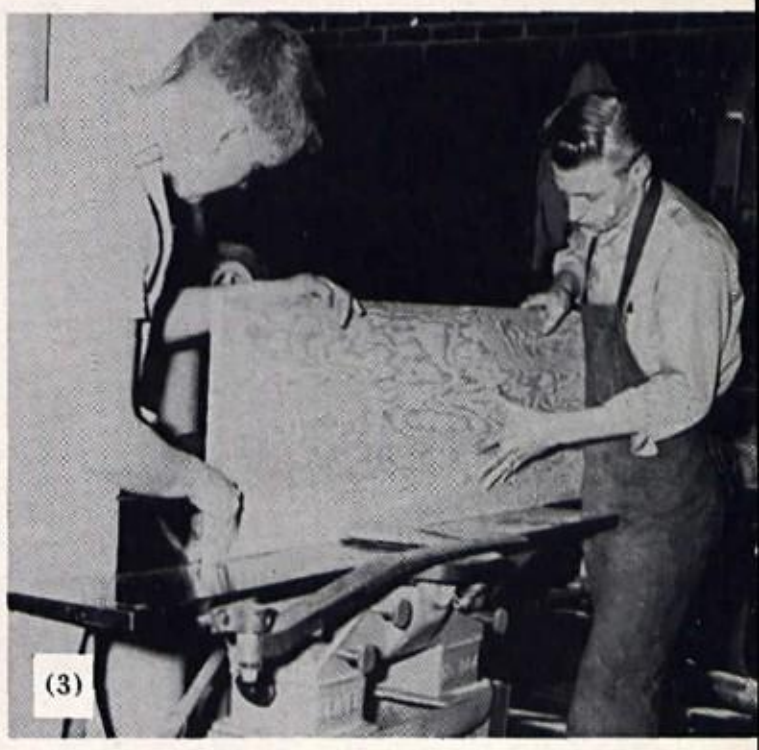
Vocational Technical School

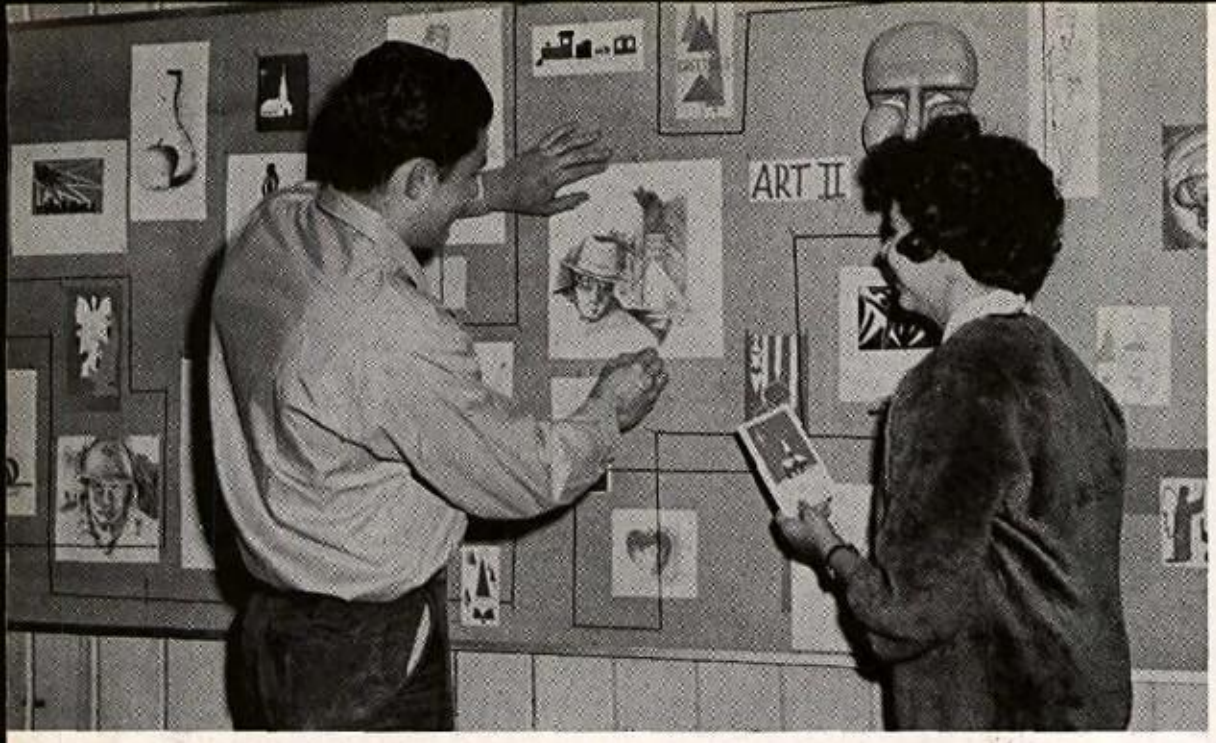
(1) VOCATIONAL-TECHNICAL SCHOOL INSTRUCTORS . . . Seated: Mr. David Berryman, director of vocational-industrial education. Front Row, Standing: Mr. Otis Letterman, vocational welding; Mr. Herbert Stratton, vocational machine shop; Mr. Paul O'Neill, vocational printing; Mr. Chester Erickson, technical drafting; and Mr. John Kirby, vocational agriculture. Second Row: Mr. Bert Stainbrook, electronics and vocational electricity; Mr. George Freeze, vocational auto mechanics; Mr. A. R. Cade, vocational woodwork; and Mr. Sherman Bradley, vocational sheet metal.

(2) Jerry Mallonee, Randy Vaughan, and James Appleby demonstrate several types of welding with torches and other tools. This is a typical scene in Mr. Stratton's class.

(3) A large piece of wood is being planed by Richard Tillman and J. R. Carstein, as they try their skill in Mr. Cade's vocational woodwork class.



Appreciation, . . .



PIN-UPS . . . Roy Gurley and Susan Stonestreet prepare a bulletin board displaying the various types of art studied and produced in Art II. Susan is holding one of the Christmas cards she designed and made.

PICTURE THIS . . . One of Parkview's talented artists, Judy Noble, displays a selection of her paintings that she will enter in contests.

MODERN PICASSO? . . . An aspiring young artist, Bruce O'Hara, takes a final look at his various paintings that he is to enter in the Scholastic Art Contest.

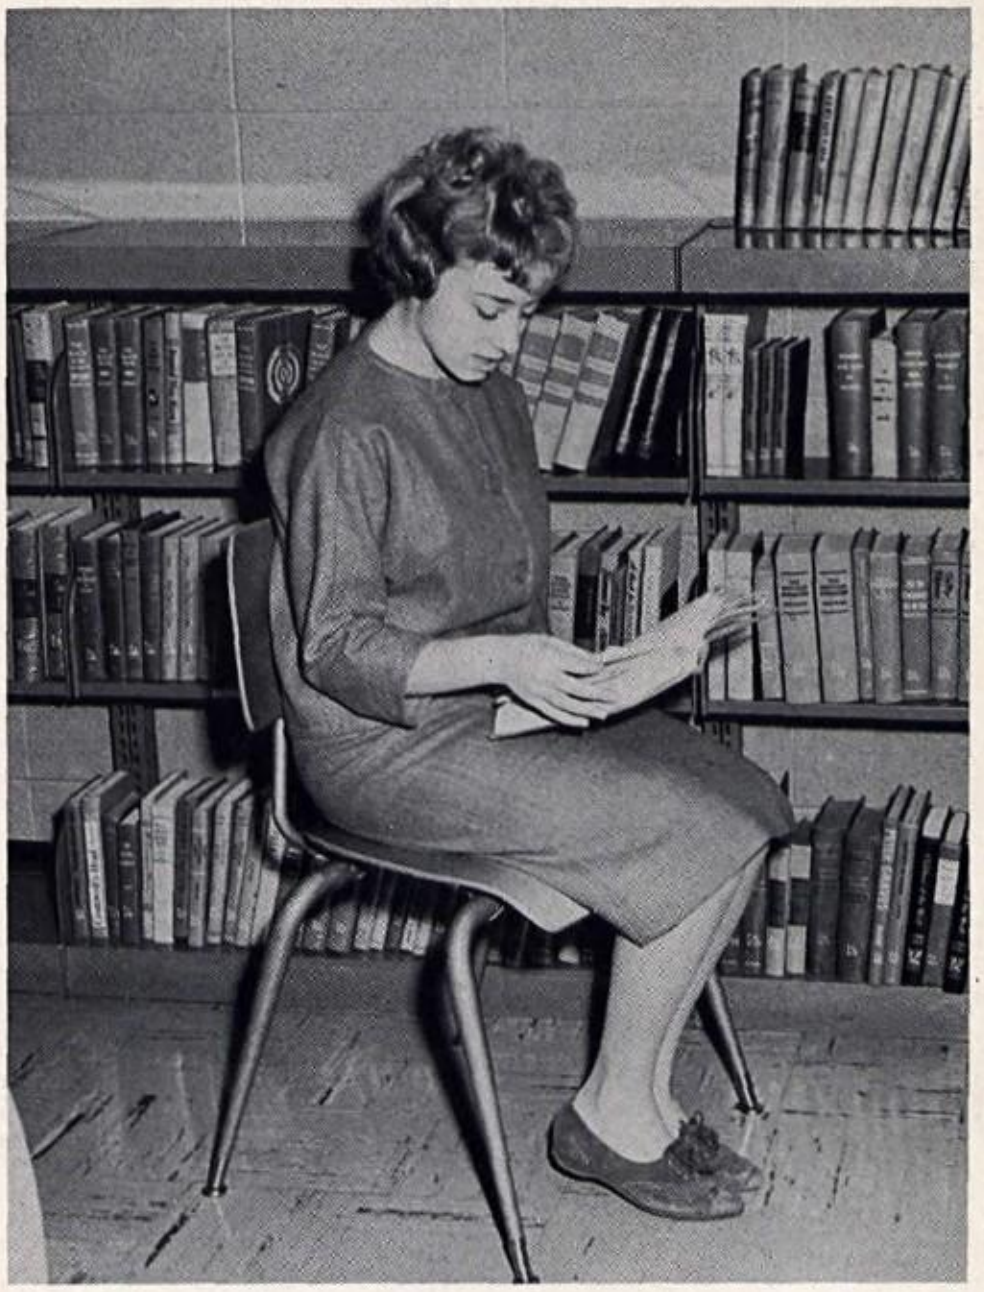
. . . Self-Expression Encouraged.

Fine arts program at Parkview not only gives a basic foundation of knowledge, but also gives an opportunity for self-expression.

An appreciation for music as a listener and the technical skill needed as a performer are developed through classes in both vocal and instrumental music.

Art courses are offered to foster creativity and develop skills in self-expression.

Through an appreciation of literature, art, and music, inner resources are developed for a wise and creative use of leisure time.



FAR AWAY PLACES . . . DeeDee Stocker finds that the hours spent in the library can open a new world of adventure, mystery, and comedy.

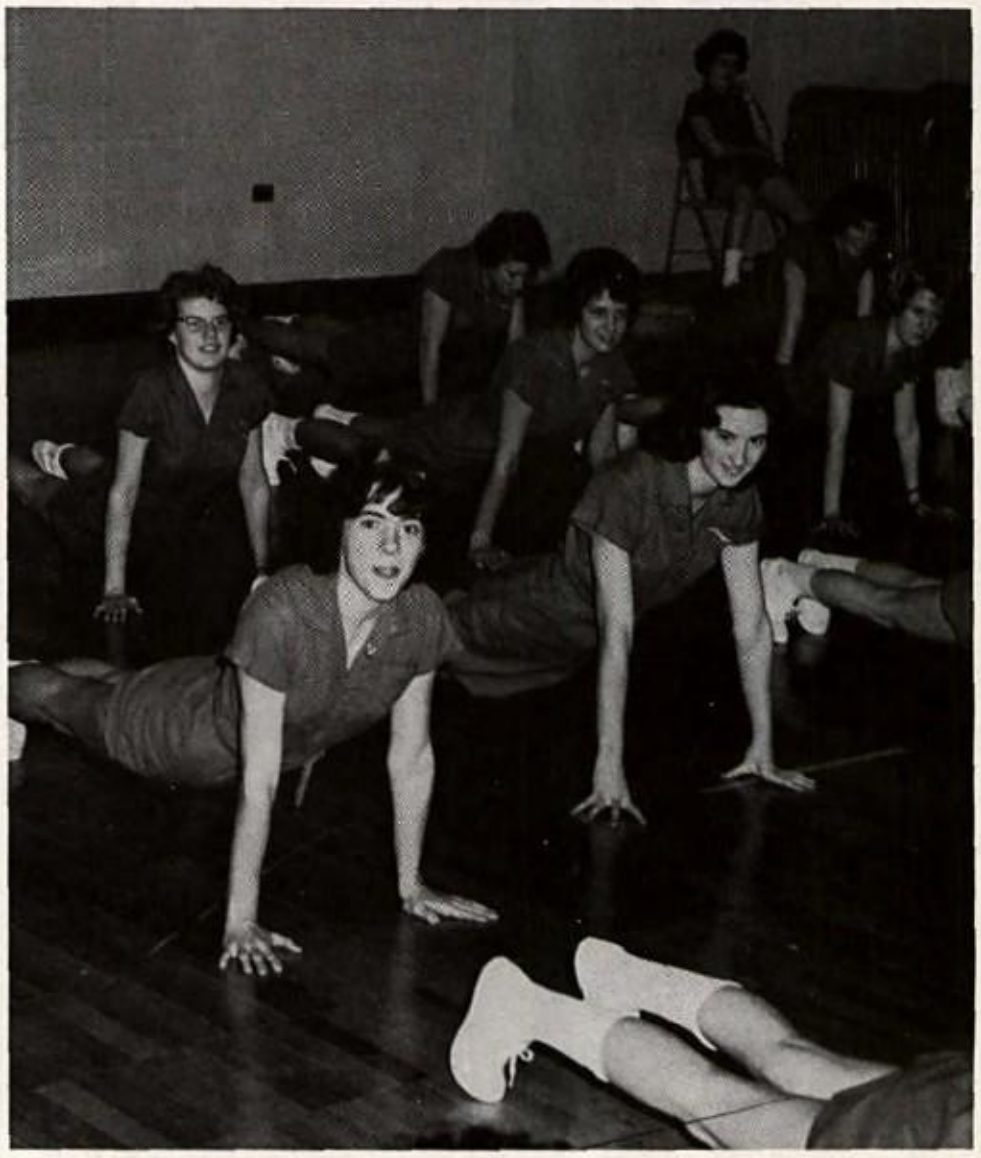
BASSOON BLOWERS . . . Russell Hill, Joe Moye, and Carolyn Salvog take time to practice on the bassoon, one of the most challenging instruments.

Fitness, Health Stressed . . .

'TAIN'T CRICKET . . . Volleyball is one of the team sports played in girls' physical education. Teams are made up within classes and tournaments are organized for interclass competition.

MISSES MAKE MUSCLES . . . Squat-thrusts are one of the traditional exercises used in physical education and were stressed in the youth physical fitness program this year.

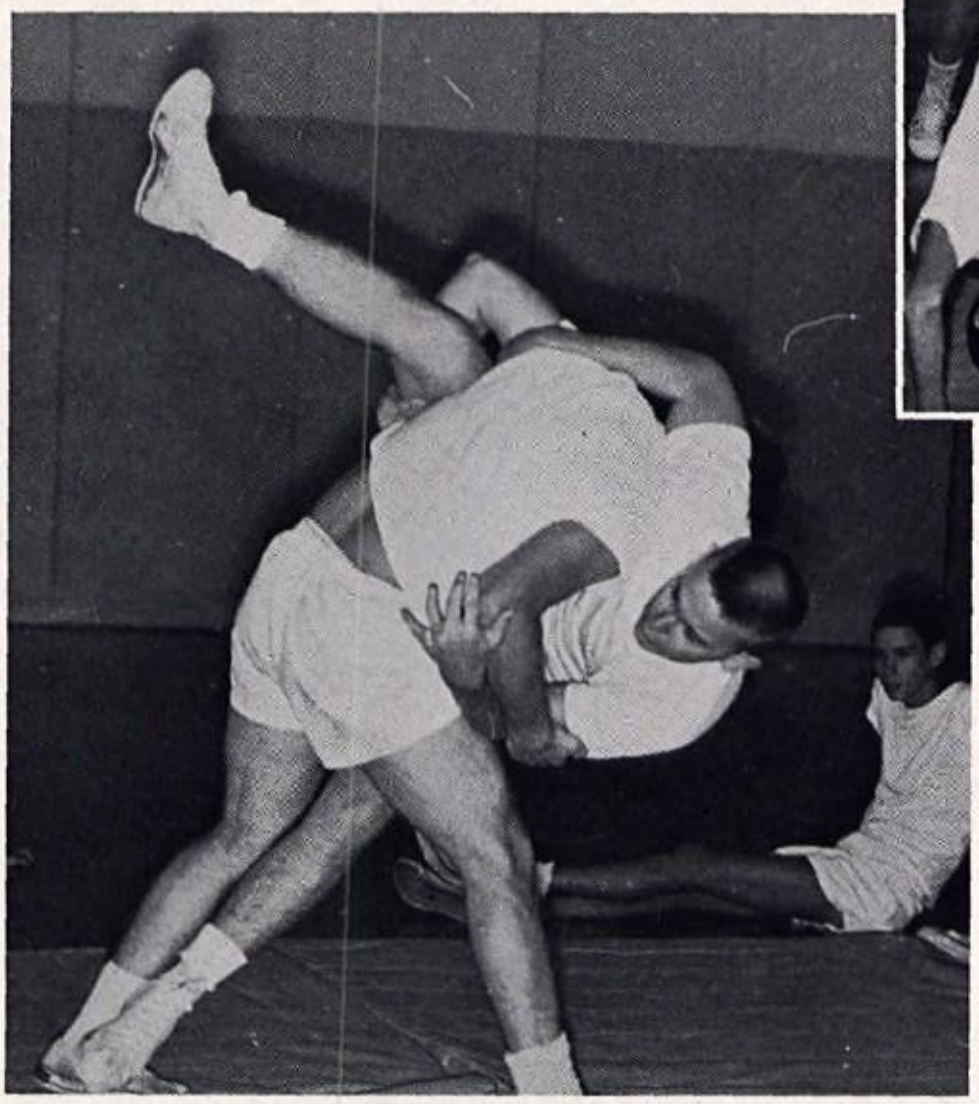
ELBOW AND KNEE . . . Muscles are stretched and toned by sit-up after sit-up. Exercises, which have always been a part of the physical education program, are executed this year under the youth physical fitness program. The girls should be able to do fifty consecutively.



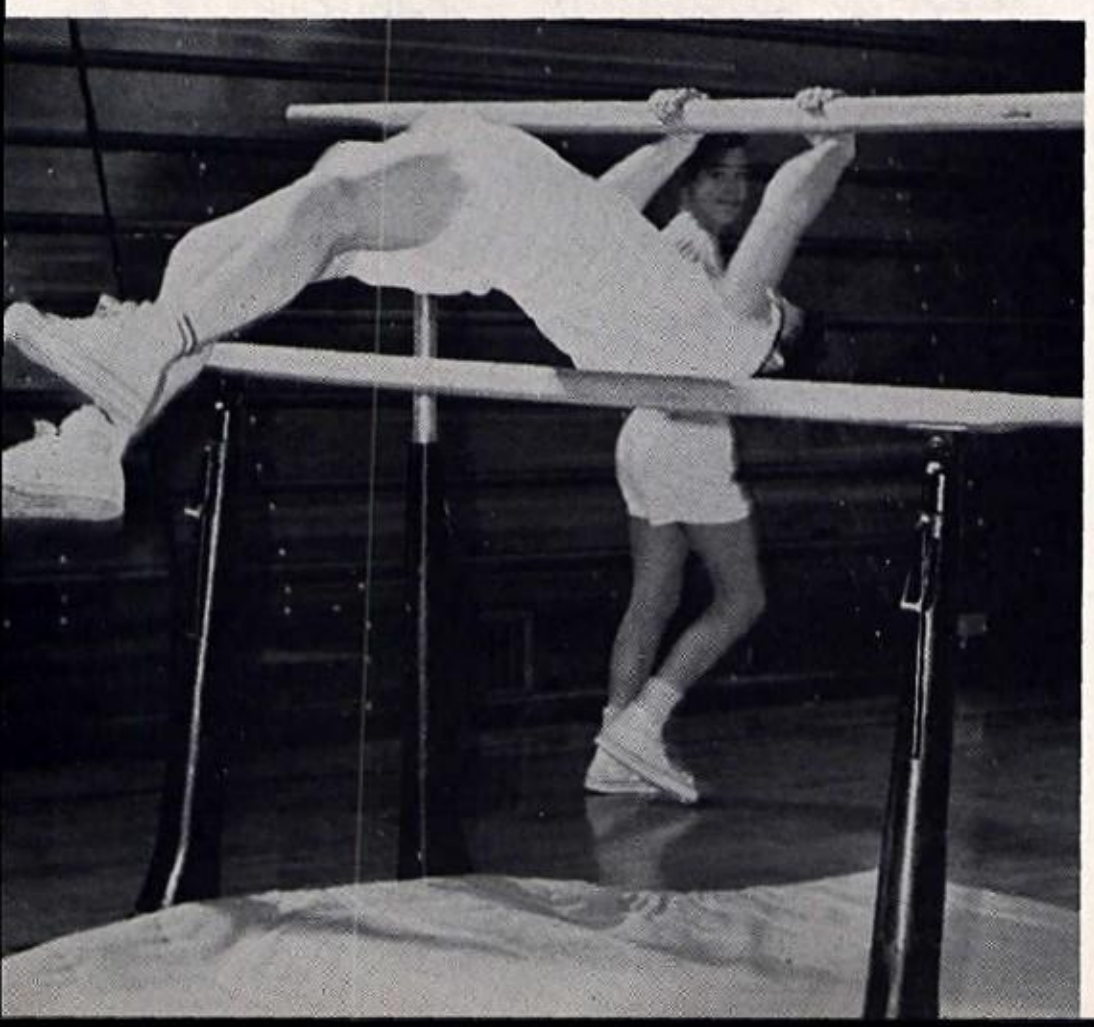
Through Physical Education.

TWO GO TUMBLING . . . Wendell Hillhouse comes in for a landing as Mike Mowrer prepares to take off in a backward roll, one of the basic skills developed in the gymnastics taught in physical education classes.

IT TAKES TWO TO TANGLE . . . Mike Chestnut prepares to dump Artie Nanney in a wrestling match in one of the boys' physical education classes, closely watched by Jack Munsey. Boys were matched according to weight.



AW, COME 'N GET ME . . . Gene Sallee, racing against time, measures his ability in one of the strength tests given in the boys' physical education classes.



THREADING THROUGH . . . The gymnastic maneuver of swinging under one bar and over one slightly lower develops coordination. The vertical difference between the bars is gradually decreased as skill improves.

— Pam —

Well after looking for two or three hours I finally found a place that Jim hadn't found. Well dear we have been together now for over 4 years and I have enjoyed all of them. I will never forget you as long as I live and hope you the same for me. Well I don't really know where to start but I guess I will start from the first when we met you and Shirley used to be best friends at Jarrett and Sue & me best friends but it changed didn't it? And now we will skip two or three years to my party well you were in love (ha!) with Eddie and me with Roger or Richard (I can't remember) and then my next party changed to Jim and you were just dieing to meet him but not until my next party then it all happened you & Jim fell in love and Phyllis & Monty were hitting it off pretty well and finally thanks to you I met Monty and now on our first 2 yr anniversary. I have no one but you to thank for all my wonderful times with Monty & he has showered me with love & affection. I don't know where I would be. Pam I hope that our friendship lasts as much as I do because we have really had some good and bad times together but I guess that's what makes our friendship forget the ~~bad times~~ like reminiscing about your sweet little ca getting [illegible] that fat [illegible] all day at school and running down that alley scared to death but we made it ~~all~~ of the time and [illegible] it together. Well I guess I should close now and I [illegible] you [illegible] me. My thoughts & prayers I sincerely hope you & [illegible] the best of happiness anyt[illegible] people can have and deserve I hope it is [illegible] never someone else. I thank you very much for all the shoulders to cry on and smiles to laugh on. Your friend forever & ever,

Love Ya

Parkview music department provides an opportunity for the students to advance their knowledge in the two fields of music: vocal and instrumental.

The band participates in many school activities. They play for all home football games in either a pre-game or halftime performance, at some home basketball games, in pep assemblies, and, in February, join with the Lassies in the Band and Lassie Concert.

Although separate organizations, the choir and orchestra work as one unit in presenting the fall concert, the operetta, and many assemblies.

Along with the other organizations, the girls' glee club, the sophomore choir, and the various ensembles offer both entertainment and cultural growth for the student body.

They Have Their Exits And Their Entrances.

Dramatics is an elective course in speech improvement designed to increase the effectiveness of the individual — not to prepare him for the theater. It is a personality developing medium using subject matter pertaining to different aspects of the theater: mainly acting, directing, theater personalities, make-up, and dramatic theater. Classes in dramatics present cuttings from both one-act and long plays and participate in many school activities.

Unique to Parkview this year is the new Dramatics Interest Group which is composed of members of the freshman and sophomore classes only. The purpose of this organization is to stimulate interest in the general phase of dramatics, to give students an opportunity to appear before a group, and to help them with the best techniques of speaking and acting.

Experience Makes Them Masters . . .

The activities of the students engaged in public speaking gives training and experience in appearing before audiences and working in competition.

Contest events include debate, oratory, extemporaneous speaking, duet acting, humorous interpretation, poetry reading, book reviewing, and after-dinner speaking.

Assemblies, dramatic productions, the operetta, and other programs owe much to the members of the Stagecraft Club whose members work with curtain, sound, scenery, and lighting.

Throughout the school, films are used as a teaching-learning aid. The projectionists are responsible for the operation of the projectors and sound equipment.

LANGUAGE CAROL SING . . . Members of the three foreign language clubs join forces in the Student Center for the annual Christmas carol sing. These Spanish and French students find that language is no barrier when expressing the joy of the season in song.

Honey, your a flirt and you know that's no way for a married girl to act.
Yours Jim

Foreign language clubs interest many Parkview students through varied activities.

The main purpose of Los Caballeros, the Spanish club, is to emphasize the spoken language and to acquaint its members with customs of Spanish-speaking people. Its year is highlighted with the Christmas piñata party and with the spring banquet.

Le Cercle Francais, the French club, holds an annual French Carnival for invited guests and prospective French students. The club features programs of speakers, films, slides, and parties.

Una Voce, the Latin club, provides interesting information concerning the traditions, life, and customs of ancient Rome. An annual Roman banquet is held every spring. In February the members of the Latin and Spanish clubs have a Valentine party.

Activities Promote Interest . . .

TEACHERS' HELPER . . . Cadet teachers perform various tasks in their work as assistants to classroom teachers in the elementary schools. Pat Finkenbinder, assigned to Delaware School, cuts a stencil for mimeographing.

The Future Homemakers of America organization emphasizes the joys and satisfactions of homemaking and the importance of worthy home membership. Activities include field trips, parties, meetings with programs and speakers, and services to the school.

The activities of the Future Teachers of America are centered around the teaching profession. Members of the club help take care of children during PTA meetings and have entertained handicapped and underprivileged children at parties.

The club also sponsors the cadet teaching program under which seniors may work two hours a day in one of the Springfield Schools.

Pam.
Well this is my last year but I'm and I've really enjoyed it. Wish we could have seen each other more.
Maybe we can make up for that this summer. I'm so glad you're moving back to the old neighborhood. Remember all the things we've done like the day in my kitchen when there was a slight accident. Maybe we'd better not.
There's so many things that I would like to say about you like you're really a neat girl and are one of the sweetest girls I know.
I wish you all the luck in the world

FBLA, COE Give Students Understanding Of Business World

Future Business Leaders of America club encourages the mutual understanding of business, school, and community. It promotes a more active interest in better social, political, community, and family life.

The Parkview chapter has taken a leading part in local, state, and national FBLA activities. It received a gold seal for the activities of the year and a regional pennant for the promotion of FBLA chapters in other schools at the National Convention in Washington D. C. last summer.

Cooperative Education provides the opportunity for students to obtain additional training and work experience on jobs outside school for which they receive credit toward graduation. In addition to work on a job, students in the program are assigned to a class that meets daily for instruction related to the types of occupations in which they are engaged.

. . . Processes Are Practiced

Student Council gives students an opportunity to participate in democratic processes.

The Governing Assembly is made up of elected representatives from each sixth hour class. The Cabinet is comprised of both elected and appointed members. The Safety Council members are elected representatives of each third hour class.

During the year, these bodies study problems affecting the safety, welfare, and interest of the student body and make recommendations for their solution.

Pam, don't forget the times we would piss from first to ten minutes and Monty would call us fish.

TOP-LEVEL PLANNING . . . Beth Windsor, speaker of the house; Julie Collinson, social director; John Richardson, president of the student body; and Jan Donahoo, vice-president of the student body and secretary of the cabinet, set up dates of coming events sponsored by the Student Council.

Lassies, School's Ambassadors.

Adding a feather to their caps, the Lassies of the MacArthur Clan marched and danced proudly through another year.

Work began early in the summer months to prepare for the many performances during the football and basketball seasons. They were also seen in many pep assemblies and parades throughout the Clan's sixth year.

LASSIE SMILE . . . Faye Fronabarger, bugle captain; Phyllis Templeton, drum captain; Kathie Broockmann, majorette; Pam Deiker, president.

Linda's Parkview's Sweetheart.

SENIOR SWEETHEARTS . . . Elected as Parkview's Sweetheart, Linda Hagerman reigned over the annual all-school spring formal dance. Sharing the throne with her are Jill Nicholson and Leslie Eells, senior attendants.

WHO'S LOOKING? . . . Gary May obviously doesn't need his glasses to salute his royal lady in the traditional manner after her coronation.

Acknowledgment

With the completion of the 1962 Viking Log, it is time for the editors to acknowledge those who have helped in its production.

First we thank the people of Parkview: the administration for allowing school time for the taking of pictures, the faculty for permitting students to leave class in order to have pictures taken, and the students for their cooperation at all times.

Thanks is due to the PHS student photographers Jim Holland, Paul Shaw, John Compton, and to Jerry Fortner of Hillcrest; to professional photographers John Craig, John McGuire, and Bob Keller; and to the downtown studios for their cooperation in taking Viking Day Royalty.

We wish to express our appreciation to the journalism students who assisted in its production, to Mrs. Mar'Lyn Cowan, journalism instructor; and to Mrs. Virginia Woodring, city-wide journalism coordinator.

The Viking Log is intended to be a record of the year 1962 and the activities that made it an important period of time to the students and the faculty of Parkview High. The staff hopes it will provide a lasting memory.

DEAR,
DARLING,
SWEET,
KIND, LOVABLE Pam,

IT's BEEN LOADS OF FUN BEING A WIDOW WITH YOU IN P.E. — NICE TO KNOW THAT THERE IS SOMEONE ELSE IN LOVE BESIDES ME... Jim MUST BE A PRETTY PERFECT GUY — I HOPE YOU AND HE CONTINUE ON THROUGH LIFE TOGETHER.
BE SWEET and BE GOOD (IS NOT TOO much IT TO ASK!!)

Joanne Littenhoodel

I know you'll have a ball at the Sweetheart Party. Luck always, because you're a real sweet girl!
Love ya!
Marian goodman

Pam,
Well first of all it's said being in history class with you has been fun it would be a lie, cuz it's about the most boring class ever. But it has had its better moments Have fun your Sr. year stay sweet and cute and best of luck and all that rot.
Penny Napper

Another year, another boy.
But not for you, I guess.
We've been friends for about 3 years and I've really enjoyed knowing you.
I guess I could recall memories from Southern Hills, dirt roads, Diane's parties,
etc. but I won't — because you probably remember anyway.
I hope to see you this summer like a Comm As You Are Party.

Pam,
Well first of all it's said being in history class with you has been fun it would be a lie, cuz it's about the most boring class ever. But it has had its better moments Have fun your Sr. year stay sweet and cute and best of luck and all that rot.
Penny Napper

Hi Pam,

Gee it's been great being your buddy this school year. You are a real sweet kid, even if you are sort of mean sometimes! Man, haven't we had a blast this year, remember the time we went out for lunch and got caught by the deans, man! you were a great one to talk too when I had those boy (namely Bill) problems. I hope we can get together a lot this summer. Wish me luck that I get Bill back but I probably won't! (sigh) Please promise me that you & Jim won't have one fight the whole summer okay? ha ha Please stay like the sweet, adorable, beautiful, darling child ~~spouse~~ spouse are now and I'll still hate you for the rest of my life! ha ha.

All kidding aside, I truly love you, just like a brother! Best of Luck all your life..! Betty Green (Allen)

Pam

I have enjoyed being in English with you this year. I think you have a wonderful personality and hope you keep it always. Good luck in all you undertake to do.

Best Wishes

Donna Shipman

Pam,
I have enjoyed being in English and history with you this year. Good luck in the future.

Martha Nelson

Pam, I really like you a lot. You're a nice guy - please keep smiling. Have a nice summer.

Dearest Pam and Jim and Honey

I know take time out of my romantic life, to tell all you readers about mine and my womans wonderful times together. Later I will inform you of our future plans. I first met this darling, lovable girl at a party sponsored by her good friend Diane Sweetin.

Pam, I never thought I would or could like a girl so much. When I first met you, I wasn't overwhelmed, but know I am. you know we've done so much to gether and plan to do more. Remember all the times we have had together over the summer. Don't forget your first birthday we had together. Or the first time we went to the drive end. I sure was bashful. But not any more. How about the first time I wanted to park. I said I was running out of gas and stop the car. I wanted to ask you, so not to waste time but I couldn't. I Remember when I was dating Cookie and wondered what it would be like to date you. Well it happen and I didn't mind. You know Pam, you have taken quite a lot from me, and ~~since~~ since you have a car and I don't it makes me feel a little bad. This summer. when I get a car, we can park yours and I'll make up for driving in yours all time. Well Pam we have come to know each other and have fun together. Remember the night we were parked in your driveway and the time sort of got out of hand and before we knew it your dad was out on the porch in his underwear telling you it was time to come in. Remember how embarrassed I was, and so was you. I think I got you in the house on time from then on. How about the time my dad called and I tried to sneak the car back in the driveway and he was waiting for me! I sure did like picking you up after work. I was so glad to see you. You sure were sweet over the summer Pam. Remember when I wanted run down before you got home. But it was my fault you had to leave mad. How did you like Christmas and the nights we would Park in the snow and talk about all time. Will we entered 62 Together. "Dad" 1+1

I Remember when you had to borrow money from me to get my birthday present, What a girl. I guess we have both pulled some pretty good ones on each other. You know how we would fight and then make up and go eat Pizza together. School is almost out, we have been dating for about a year and a half and I seem to want you more every time I see you. We've been to dances party's, swimming, church and just about every where together and will keep on going together as long as I have any say so. Tonight we are going to the prom and having once more lots of fun together. Well Pam, we have come a long way and I think will go all the way, for I want you and you had better want me. I'm sorry for all the bad things I've done or said to make you unhappy. But we all say things to hurt the ones we love. Even if we break up some day and never see each other again I'll never forget you. I love you, yes? Jim Jolley '62 SENIOR
